

WHEN N. KOREA DOWNED PLANE . . .

Nixon's Inclination Was To Retaliate

© New York Times Service

By WILLIAM BEECHER

Washington — According to top administration officials, military retaliation was President Nixon's first inclination as he considered his response to the shooting down April 15 (Korean time) of an unarmed U.S. Navy reconnaissance plane by North Korea.

Efforts to reconstruct the President's thinking in the first hours after the plane incident have produced consistent reports in several government agencies that he started moving the machinery of reaction close to such a response, then stopped short of ordering an air strike.

Officials say the planning had gone as far as the selection of two specific targets in North Korea, and, according to one source, a speech had been prepared to explain the retaliation to the American people.

Negative Factors

But several factors are said to have turned Nixon toward a course of greater restraint. These included:

—The slowness of military preparations to move ships and planes into position to handle not only the retaliatory raid but possible subsequent counterattacks by North Korea against South Korea.

—Arguments by close associates of the President, notably Secretary of State William P. Rogers, that he find some course short of retaliation to answer the unprovoked attack.

—Nixon's concern, as time passed, that the American people might consider bombing raids against North Korea to be hauntingly similar to the Gulf of Tonkin air strikes of August, 1964, that lead to a broader American involvement in the Vietnam war.

Sources say most of those involved in policy discussions held the view that in attacking the Navy EC121 aircraft April 14 about 90 miles off its coast, North Korea was not trying to spark another war.

Rather, they believed, the Pyongyang regime was determined to demonstrate that the Nixon administration was just as preoccupied with Vietnam as the Johnson administration was, and thus would not take any precipitate retaliatory action, just as President Johnson had not struck back for the seizure of the spy ship Pueblo 15 months earlier.

Would've Proved Toughness

According to these officials, the President felt that "quick, clean" retaliation against one or more North Korean air bases would prove to North Korean Premier Kim Il Sung that he was dealing with a tougher administration in Washington. This might have had a side benefit in signaling the same message to North Vietnamese leaders. It might also have had a salutary effect on the peace negotiations in Paris, some officials felt.

Talks Possible In Charleston

Charleston, S.C. (UPI) — Police turned back 100 chanting demonstrators Monday as both sides moved toward a possible start of negotiations in this historic city's hospital workers' strike.

More than 100 young demonstrators halted a march in a busy intersection when Police Chief John Conroy stood in their path, backed by other officers, and announced, "This is too big a group to go down King Street at this time of day."

A march leader offered to turn around if Conroy would sing a freedom song with the demonstrators, but he refused, saying, "I'm no singer, I'm a policeman."

"We understand you're with us at heart," said march leader James Orange, "but you've got a job to do." He then led the youthful marchers back into a Negro neighborhood.

Israeli Premier Thinks Arabs Incapable Of War

Jerusalem (AP) — The Arabs are not prepared for a full-scale war with Israel, Prime Minister Golda Meir declared Monday, but she added that Israeli armed forces are ready if she is wrong.

"Occasionally our region is portrayed as being on the point of an explosion which may spread beyond this area," Mrs. Meir said in a state of the union message to the Knesset, Israel's parliament.

"There is no justification for this contention. We live in this region and we are perfectly familiar with the actual state of affairs."

"Israel cannot permit herself to error in her evaluation of the situation or underestimate the gravity of the dangers, nor can it exaggerate them. We have learned not to create pipe dreams."

"To the best of our judgment the Arab countries cannot at the present permit themselves to wage a total war."

She added, however, that while she believes her government's assessment to have a firm foundation, Israel's military forces "are ready for any eventuality, even for the eventuality of a mistake in this forecast."

Mrs. Meir's address followed some expressions of concern that the fighting along the Suez Canal and Jordan River cease-fire lines could escalate into another wide-open conflict in the Middle East.

U.N. Secretary General U Thant said in Geneva Sunday he felt the situation in the Middle East is deteriorating and could get out of hand in the next two months.

OCCUPATION ENDED

Louisiana Leader Vows To Use Force Required

. . . WANTS NO 'CORNELL' IN HIS STATE

By United Press International
Negro students abandoned an occupation of Southern University offices in New Orleans Monday after Gov. John J. McKeithen called out the National Guard, vowing "we're not going to have a Cornell in Louisiana."

Some 300 black militants dispersed after a short-lived takeover of the administration building, registrar's office, business office, personnel office and university switchboard.

They drifted away — some to softball fields — after their leaders told them to "split."

The Guard never arrived on campus.

There was no violence in the occupation at the New Orleans branch of Southern University, and no immediate indication whether the guardsmen ordered out by McKeithen would remain on standby duty.

A spokesman for the Afro-American students said they had set up "an interim administration" until the state legislature acted on their grievances.

About 250 young Negroes were arrested outside the Alabama capitol in Montgomery when they refused to disperse after demanding the resignation of the president of Alabama State College.

The demonstrators, offering no resistance, were herded into a large, wire-enclosed truck which made three trips from the capitol to the police station. Predominantly Negro Alabama State was closed for several days last month after a 10-day occupation of the school's cafeteria.

About 200 Negro and Puerto Rican students had defied orders of the New York Board of Higher Education to vacate City College's south campus, but yielded when served with court orders requiring an end to the two-week occupation.

Some classes resumed on the college's north campus but it appeared most classes were canceled due to the failure of instructors to show up. A CCNY official said the school "is officially open" but college President Buell G. Gallagher asked all persons to leave the south campus.

Police arrested 10 students at Pratt Institute when demonstrating members of the Black Students Union refused to obey their orders to move away from the school gates.

Fires Hit

Fires hit Reserve Officers Training Corps quarters at Harvard and Western Michigan Universities and three buildings at Temple University in Philadelphia.

It appears from the photo above to be a big job. But look below. The heavy logs weren't so heavy after all, even for little Joe.

Election Chief Expects About 27,000 At Polls

Election Commissioner Dean Petersen predicts that about 27,000 voters will turn out for the general election in Lincoln today.

Petersen said he expects only 40-45% of the city's 66,277 voters to show up at the polls. "Not much heat has been generated in the campaign," he noted.

About 30% of the city's registered voters cast ballots in the primary election in April.

The election commissioner said he foresees a close race "right down to the wire" in the contest for three City Council seats. None of the three incumbents whose must either have school age children (5-21 years old) or own property that has been assessed.

All polling places will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Voters will also elect two members each to the Airport Authority and the Board of Education.

Also to be decided is the fate of four capital improvements bond issues and a charter amendment.

The charter amendment would eliminate a requirement that city department heads' salaries be less than the salary of the mayor.

The four bond issues — totaling $2.35 million — would finance construction of two new branch libraries, two new fire stations, and an asphalt plant and pay for new storm sewer projects.

Each of the proposed issues is listed separately on the ballot.

City Council Votes To Raze Hospital

The Lincoln City Council voted unanimously to raze the old Lincoln General Hospital building if no other use can be found for it.

The council's action affirmed the decision of the Lincoln General Hospital Board of Trustees.

Council members emphasized the decision authorizes the establishment of a timetable leading to demolition of the building in July.

The council was unanimous in stating that any reasonable offer by anyone for use of the building would be considered until demolition begins.

An amendment to the resolution approving the razing of the hospital instructed the hospital board to consider any reasonable request prior to July 2.

Bids on the razing will be opened July 1.

Robert Guenzel a member of the hospital board, told council members that everything possible has been done to get someone interested in using the building.

The land on which the building is located will be used for parking space of the new hospital.

Councilman Bill Davidson said the July 2 deadline should give any party interested in the building time to make an offer.

County Commissioner William Grossman had earlier criticized the razing decision. He said county officials had been considering use of the building as a county nursing home.

Several persons appearing at the public hearing on the resolution claimed there is a desperate need for more nursing homes in the city.

Councilman John Comstock urged that someone put pressure on officials connected with setting standards for operation of nursing homes to have the officials ease up on the standards.

The easing up, Comstock indicated, would mean permitting the hospital to operate as a nursing home under the grandfather clause that lets nursing homes established prior to setting of the standards operate without meeting them.

Comstock said the old hospital building is in better condition than some of the present older nursing homes now operating under the grandfather clause.

Guenzel indicated that it is unlikely officials would relax the nursing home standards.

Cities, Counties Back Road User Tax Hikes

. . . ARGUE OVER PROPOSED DISTRIBUTION OF ADDED FUNDS

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Cities and counties joined hands Monday to support proposals increasing highway user taxes, then battled over distribution of the funds.

At issue was LB1303, a key proposal of the legislative highway study committee, which would allocate highway user funds on a basis of 53 1/3% for the state and 23 1/3% each for cities and counties.

That formula would triple the highway user dollar support for city streets if all revenue bills are approved.

Little Change

County dollar support would change only slightly.

Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, chief sponsor of the bill, said support for counties would increase somewhat from 1967 receipts if the Legislature approves a proposal which guarantees that each county would receive at least as much money as it did two years ago.

But former Sen. Arnold Ruhke, executive director of the Nebraska Association of County Officials, told the Revenue Committee that counties would actually lose more than $2 million in support from 1969 to 1970 if the new formula is approved.

The committee held the bill and three other highway study recommendations for later action following a four-hour public hearing.

No Opposition

Heard without opposition were bills to increase the state gasoline tax from 7 1/2 to 8 1/2 cents a gallon, and to boost automobile registration fees from $9 to $15.50.

Truckers and the Nebraska Petroleum Council led opposition to a proposal to hike the diesel fuel tax from 7 1/2 to 9 1/2 cents a gallon, arguing that only a one cent boost would be fair.

A Schuyler attorney, Donn Bieber, registered opposition to proposed registration fee changes for local and local commercial trucks, contending that they discriminate against smalltown businesses which must truck goods beyond the limits of local truck licenses.

Would Need Commercial

Whereas businesses in larger communities may operate with local licenses — at one-fourth of the proposed registration fee — smalltown businesses would be forced to buy commercial truck licenses, Bieber said.

A parade of witnesses testified in support of LB1300, the gasoline and diesel fuel tax bill.

Revenue estimates indicate the measure would raise an additional $7,164,138 a year, including nearly $6.5 million from the gas tax.

LB1304, changing registration fees from automobiles and trucks, would raise an additional $5,250,000 a year.

Lincoln Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf supported the bills, noting that the city has "no other way to meet its street revenue deficits."

Discriminatory

Jim Preston, speaking for the Nebraska Motor Carriers, said the proposed differential between gasoline and diesel fuel taxes would be discriminatory to the trucking industry.

Farm organizations joined with the counties in their opposition to the proposed highway user distribution formula.

Ruhke said the counties, based on need, should receive at least 28% of the pot. They now receive 36% of a much smaller pie.

The League of Nebraska Municipalities supported the proposed formula. Cities now get 11% of the highway user revenue.

20-Year Needs

Warner said the proposed split is based entirely on "dollar needs" over a 20-year period.

Speaking for the Better Nebraska Association, and the Lincoln and Omaha Chambers of Commerce, former Gov. Robert Crosby said municipalities now spend almost as much a year on street construction as counties do on road work because they engage in more self-help revenue financing.

Despite the allocation of more state funds to the counties, Crosby said, the expenditures are 53% state, 24% counties and 23% cities.

Provide More

Some counties would have to provide more self-help under the new distribution, he suggested.

Ruhke said county needs were inaccurately projected, that smaller communities would receive more money than they could wisely use or match, and that counties would be left in 1970 with less money than they actually will receive this year.

"How will counties take care of the needs of some 34,000 miles of inadequate roads?" he asked.

Britain To Press For Full Status In Euromart

(C) New York Times News Service

London — Britain announced her intention Monday to press for full membership in the European Common Market and take advantage of the vacuum created by the departure of Gen. de Gaulle. "The arguments for progress toward a united Europe, the need to go forward without more ado, are compelling," Prime Minister Harold Wilson told the 20th anniversary meeting of the Council of Europe.

Nixon Inclined To Retaliate

Washington — Military retaliation was President Nixon's first inclination following the shooting down of an unarmed reconnaissance plane by North Korea. (More on Page 1.)

Israel Wants Treaties

Jerusalem — Amid reports that the United States and the Soviet Union were nearing agreement on certain aspects of their talks on the Middle East, Israeli Premier Golda Meir reaffirmed Israel's demand for signed treaties as the only acceptable replacement for the 1967 cease-fire lines. (More on Page 1.)

Dirksen 'Demagoguery' Hit

Washington — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy accused Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of "demagoguery" as they clashed over the confirmation of the appointment of William H. Brown III to be chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunities Commission. Dirksen had blocked the appointment last week, but withdrew his objection after meeting with Brown.

Export Controls May Loosen

Washington — For the first time in 20 years there is a possibility that Congress may loosen export controls on trade with Soviet-bloc nations. An almost certain extension of the 1949 export control act may be amended to make export licenses much easier to obtain. Hearings on the issue have shown large amounts of support in business, but the administration's position is not yet known.

Safeguard's Cost $7.8 Billion

Washington — The Defense Department acknowledged that its often repeated $6.6 billion price tag for the Safeguard antimissile system does not include the cost of nuclear warheads. If the cost of developing and producing the hundreds of warheads was included, it would add an additional $1.2 billion to the cost.

Court To Rule On Residency

Washington — The Supreme Court agreed to decide next term on the constitutionality of state residency requirements for voting in presidential elections. (More on Page 17.)

Pratt's Policy Tough

New York — Future arrest and expulsion of students guilty of vandalism, denying access to classes or inciting nonstudents to such tactics were announced by Pratt Institute of Brooklyn. The policy, one of the most drastic by a college, came after black and Puerto Rican students had padlocked the college gates early in the morning.

Foreman's Tactics Opposed

New York — Protestant church leaders reacted with guarded opposition to the tactics of black militant James Foreman that resulted in the cancellation of a communion service at Riverside Church Sunday. At the same time, most expressed sympathy with the demands for increased efforts by the church in race relations.

Solons Urging Fortas To Quit

Washington (UPI) — Members of Congress called on Justice Abe Fortas Monday to resign his Supreme Court seat or answer questions raised by his acceptance of a research fee from the family foundation of an imprisoned financier.

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, demanded the initiation of impeachment proceedings against Fortas if he does not resign, but there was no indication that the House would act on his proposal.

Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, also called for Fortas' resignation. Sen. Carl T. Curtis, R-Neb., said it was "shocking news" that Fortas accepted a "fee of $20,000 three months after he went on the bench." He proposed a code of ethics for the Supreme Court similar to one adopted by the Senate.

On Bench Monday

From Fortas, who took his regular seat when the Supreme Court handed down decisions Monday, there was no further word beyond the mimeographed statement he issued Sunday saying he returned the fee from the foundation headed by Louis Wolfson, now serving a one-year prison term for stock market manipulation.

Fortas said the payment was for "research functions, studies and writings" and was returned when he found no time to "undertake the assignment."

Most of Fortas' congressional critics were Republicans, but Sen. Edward M. Kennedy D-Mass., called on the Senate Judiciary Committee to "make itself available" to Fortas if he wanted a public forum to answer the allegations published in Life magazine. Life said Fortas waited 11 months before returning the fee, which it said amounted to $20,000.

"These are extremely important charges that have been leveled," Kennedy told reporters. "They reach (to) the integrity of the justice as well as the court."

Fortas found a defender in Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who told reporters: "I am not even convinced that when the dust settled this will be regarded as any worse than a whole series of incidents in American politics where men have received payment for outside services."

Justice Samuel Chase in 1805 was impeached by the House for alleged misconduct during trials dealing with the sedition law. The Senate did not convict him.

Joblessness Of Negroes Up Sharply

Washington (AP) — Unemployment increased sharply among Negroes, especially women, while the jobless rate for white workers remained low and unchanged, the government said Monday in reporting a slowdown in job growth in April.

The unemployment rate for nonwhites, mostly Negroes, rose nearly 1%, to 6.9%. The rate for white workers remained at 3.1%.

"Most of this rise reflected increased unemployment among nonwhite women, whose jobless rate moved from 6% to 7.2%," the report said.

Labor and civil rights group have expressed fears that the Nixon administration's policies to slow the economy in an effort to cool inflation would boost unemployment, particularly among unskilled Negroes.

Reds Attack U.S. Base; 125 Killed

Saigon (AP) — North Vietnamese troops launched a heavy attack Tuesday against an American patrol base near the Cambodian border and lost at least 125 soldiers dead and 25 captured, military spokesmen reported.

Some of the 400 North Vietnamese broke into the American base, defended by about 200 men. They seized six bunkers and held them for about an hour until they were driven back, U.S. spokesmen said. U.S. casualties were put at nine killed and 59 wounded.

In Saigon's teeming Chinese district, police raided an apartment terrorist headquarters and seized two women and a man identified as hard-core members of a spy and terror network. The raiding police also found explosives, documents, medicine and seven flags of the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front. The target of the North Vietnamese assault was the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division's Fire Base Carolyn, 65 miles northwest of Saigon and about 12 miles from the Cambodian border.

Troops of the North Vietnamese 1st and 7th Divisions are concentrated nearby in War Zone C. American forces are trying to root them out with a massive B52 bombing campaign and ground sweeps originating from a string of patrol bases like Carolyn.

A big enemy arms cache was found Monday by U.S. forces 52 miles north of Saigon, spokesmen said, in another setback for the Communist command, which has lost 38,000 men and 20,000 weapons since its offensive was launched Feb. 23.

In addition to the men killed and weapons captured, the enemy has lost 2,500 rockets and 110,000 mortar rounds to allied forces in the 2½-month-old offensive, the U.S. Command said.

Unconfirmed field reports said the cache discovered Monday included 91 machine guns and a number of mortars.

Family Planning Service Funds Sought From OEO

By LUCILLE HOWARD
 Star Staff Writer
 A medically oriented family planning service for low-income Lincolinites will be operating here by July if an application for $40,087 in federal funds is approved by the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO).
 Members of the Lincoln Action Program board of directors Monday night approved an application seeking a $49,785 program to recruit, counsel and disperse family planning service to low-income persons.

LAP Director Art May had reported that OEO has funds available for such a service. OEO encouraged the Lincoln anti-poverty program to submit an application for federal money, he said, adding that approval is "relatively assured."

1,500 Eligible
 Some 1,500 persons are eligible for this service, board member Lester Jensen reported. "Interest expressed in family planning would indicate that 50% may become participants," he said.

No program of this kind is presently available, board members were told, except for welfare recipients through the Lancaster County Welfare Department.

However, the low-income non-welfare person is not served, and a program "would help to prevent much of the dire poverty for those who will have too many children to support," Jensen pointed out.

Details Later
 Details about the proposed service, including eligibility requirements and the kind of recruitment to be used, will be decided later, according to Jensen.

One of the questions that the proposed policy advisory committee — made up of representatives of target area councils — will have to decide is eligibility of single girls in the community, noted May.

Under the proposal, the program would be delegated to the County Health Department, located in the former clinic facilities and staffed by the obstetrics and gynecology department of Lincoln General Hospital.

Determine Need
 People "who qualify and avail themselves of the service" will be examined and counseled as to whether or not they need a birth control program, it was explained.

A "mutual determination" about the most desirable method will be made. Where medical procedures or drugs are indicated, "this will be done by the physician."

In addition to a clinic director, a gynecology-obstetrics intern, the program staff will include a registered nurse to provide follow-up treatment and counseling and be responsible for much of the educational program, a social the flowers, plaque thermometer and cash-type lettuce from "your neighbors and friends."

 The tributes also came to Mrs. Edith McFarland for kindness and super-service through the years. Her living room, converted into a neighborhood grocery, has been her livelihood since the death of her husband, Lee.

Its profits, never large, were enough to see three children through school. And the place "never did have a mortgage," smiled the 83-year oldster.
 "We did have some tough times during the depression, though," she recalled. "There were seven stores right here in the neighborhood and I was lucky to clear a dollar a day."

Delivery Service
 A big help was an evolutionary delivery service manned by her youngsters — first on foot, then by wagons and bicycles. The last several decades, however, the store has been strictly a "one man" operation.

A congratulatory card signed by more than 30 customers includes several, now grandparents, who had once peered up at her candy counter. It is loyalty like this which has kept her in business despite urgings from her family to retire.

Mrs. Mac finally agreed to sell out — but not until she reached 50-year milestone. She plans to be out of business by summer, then move to the home of son Jack, a principal in Berkeley, Calif.

Her daughter, Mrs. Howard Opper, lives at Rock Beach, Fla. Another son, Max, died two years ago in Colorado. She has seven grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

One of her oldest friends, the salesman who persuaded her to open the store, still drops by to see how things are going. L. S. Rasse of Fairbury, then with his father's wholesale grocery firm, had advised her "when I was as green as either kind of lettuce."

Fond Of Customers
 Though surprised by the tribute from her customers, Mrs. Mac reflected that she shouldn't have been.
 "I've had such wonderful people all through the years," she explained. "I might have known they'd do something like this."

Poodles, Aerialists Highlight Shrine Circus Opening Night

Poodles and aerialists highlighted the opening night of the 24th annual Sesostris Temple Shrine Circus Monday night.

In spite of lighting problems, the majority of the acts during the first half of the show were flawless with Sir Victor Julien and his Dancing Poodles of Fashion creating the most excitement for the crowd of 2,100 children and adults.

The Flying Dells highlighted the second half of the show with a triple somersault by Tony Steele and a double somersault performed by 19-year-old Betty Woods — the first lady aerialist to successfully complete two consecutive somersaults.

The only repeat performance was the poodle act brought back by popular demand, said Mrs. Grace McIntosh, producer of the show.

Attendance during the first day and night of the circus reached an all-time high of approximately 2,850, according to a Shrine spokesman. This was an increase of 1,500 over last year, he said.

Optometrists Told To Become More Involved In Community

Optometrists must become more "community-involved" in order for public health programs in the field of vision to be successful, Bernard J. Shannon, optometrist from Mauston, Wis., said Monday.

Shannon, chairman of the committee on public health and optometric care of the American Optometric Association, was in Lincoln to discuss "Public Health Optometry and Your Practice" at the annual convention of the Nebraska Optometric Association.

He said the aged and poor are two categories which have been "semi-ignored" but are now beginning to be emphasized.

Optometrists need to develop programs in cooperation with other health professions to bring about better care for everyone in the community.

Particularly in the area of the aged, Dr. Shannon said these people must be helped to understand that they can be more productive, happier and more comfortable individuals if they have corrected vision.

"There are very few under 70 who can't attain normal vision," he said, adding that many over that age can be helped by optometrists so they may drive to get groceries and everyday needs.

He urged that optometrists keep abreast of changes in the entire public health area and study the reasons for such changes. He suggested that the consumer be given an opportunity to make his needs known.

"We have never given him a chance to say what his needs are," Dr. Shannon said. The Nebraska Optometrists, who opened a three-day meeting Monday, honored Norman Geske, director of the Sheldon Art Gallery with the "Eyes of Nebraska" award.

The award is given in recognition of Nebraskans who have made contributions to the betterment of the state. Geske was cited for his "leadership" in giving Nebraska "one of the finest art galleries in the nation."

"His leadership in the field of art has brought credit to his state, especially with his being named selector for the American art exhibited at the Biennale international art show in Venice, Italy, last year," Dr. William Higgins said in making the presentation.

Clarkson Youth's Shooting Death Ruled Accidental

Clarkson (AP) — The shooting death of a Clarkson youth was ruled accidental Monday by Colfax County Sheriff Richard Kruse.

Roger Probst, 17, died Sunday of head wounds from a 12-gauge shotgun blast apparently fired while the youth was cleaning the weapon in his bedroom, Kruse said.

Probst was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Probst of Clarkson.

When you invest a billion dollars to help the cities, you learn some things.

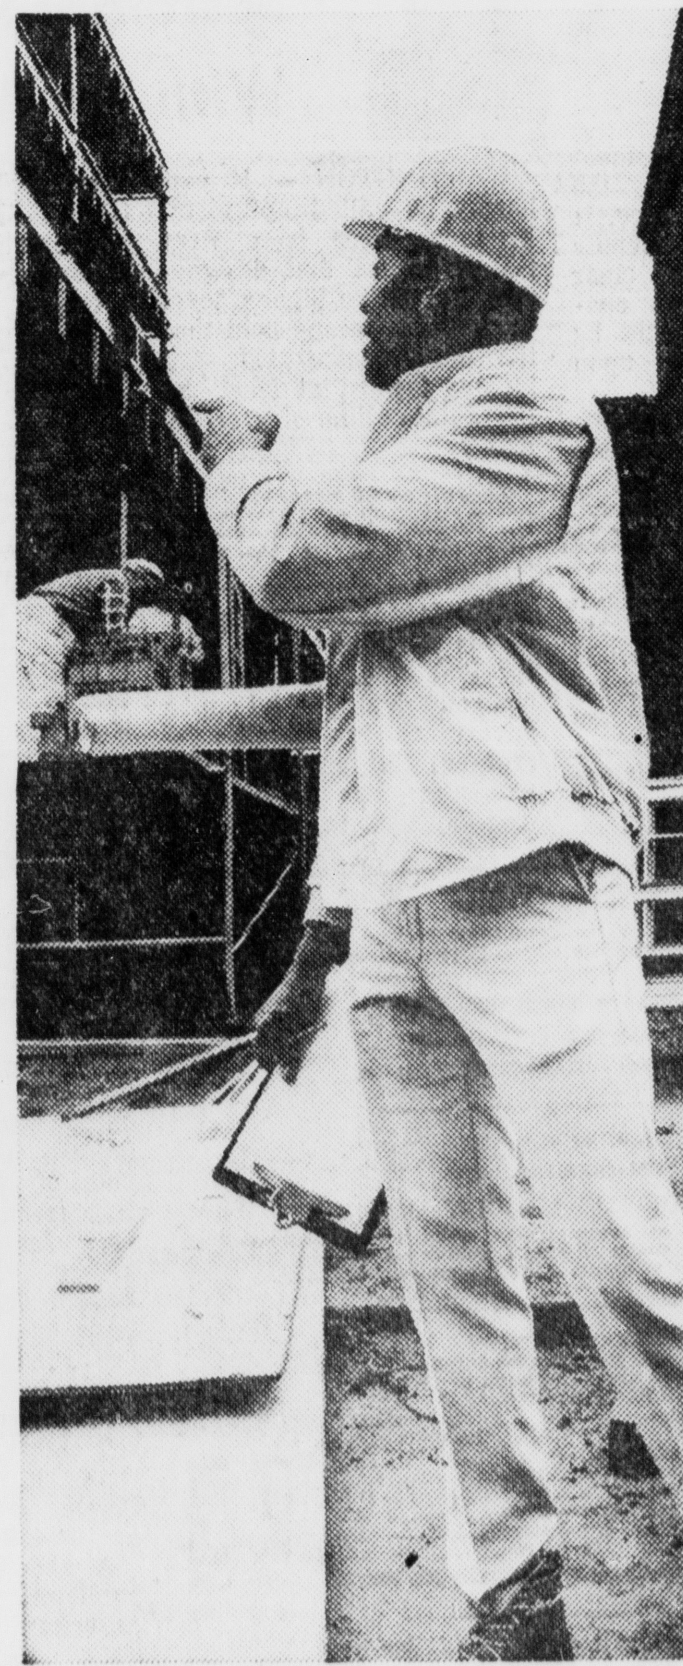

Like hope.

Due to the nature of the problem, the life insurance companies would need the closest cooperation of government and responsible leaders of the community. And they're getting it. With the result that the billion is now almost completely committed.

What we learned, was people.

By our very involvement in the core areas, we of the life insurance business found ourselves getting a lot closer to where people live.

We found that despite all the talk of backlash and Blacklash, there's an even greater drive to work together. A drive to create, not to hate.

We confirmed a deep feeling. That the problem of the cities needs people — people in government, business, and labor, working together — to help solve it. And we discovered we weren't trying alone; other businesses were making special efforts.

The life insurance companies are re-learning a basic truth. Let everyone do what he does best. We ourselves know investment in housing and enterprise. Local planners, developers, and agencies know their communities and know their needs.

Our business has learned that its hope was justified.

Sure, minds are still troubled today. The situation won't "just go away." But...

The life insurance business has so much hope that it's taking another step.

A second billion. A second billion devoted to the same aims.

While knowing that it doesn't nearly fill the whole need, the life insurance business regards this, like the first billion, as an investment in its own future.

Isn't it your future, too?

If you would like some suggestions on what you can do, write for the booklet "The cities...your challenge, too."

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Every generation wonders as it goes along what its place in history will be and the assessments run from very high to very low. Too, they pretty well cover the waterfront of issues which have tested the temper and ability of the human race.

It is difficult to determine at this time what events of the past and current period will most shape the place in history accorded us but civil rights will surely be a prominent issue. Under that heading will come campus disorders which have largely been an outgrowth of the civil rights matter.

The near and sometimes actual rebellion that is found on college campuses today leaves most of us sorely perplexed. There is not a citizen who would not subscribe to the principle that we must have order in our society but this is but a very small beginning.

You start with order and from that point on begin to build the kind of society in which humanity can make the most of itself. When it fails to do the latter, the order you have established begins to break down and this is what has happened to us.

Some people answer the rebellion on the campuses by a call for the application of more law and order. Again, this is fine for so far as it goes but it is only the beginning of which we have already spoken.

What we need to see is the real significance and meaning of the dissatisfaction that prevails today among so many of the younger people. It is not an easy thing to understand because it is often without defined objectives, concerned to a great extent with the shortcomings of the system that currently prevails.

And in its concern for these shortcomings, that dissatisfaction centers on the alteration of life as most of us have lived it. Thus, it calls for change and we do not accept too easily a rejection of a system with which we have come to be comfortable.

But it is just as important for us to understand this dissatisfaction as it is for us to maintain the order we want. Our educational system is one that is far from perfect.

It is a part of an entire system, for instance, which operates to the disadvantage of some people, leaving them destined to a life of mediocrity or worse. Many colleges themselves have become to highly impersonal and large that they have lost any touch of humanity.

Our society's sense of values is subject to sincere question and our approach to the problems of the world is far from adequate. We have not succeeded, whatever our intentions and effort have been, in serving the dignity of mankind.

We have not raised to an acceptable level the impoverished among us. We have not ended discrimination. We have not eliminated hunger and we are as far from peace among nations right now as the world has ever been. Our faith in the military remains a dominant part of our philosophy.

A toleration of lawlessness is, of course, not the answer to anything and this we would not advocate. Despite the shortcomings and wrongs that exist within society, it is essential that order prevail if progress is to be made.

We should recognize, however, what the causes of the disorder are. We should recognize that we have failed in many things in our society and make a greater effort to change this so that the basis for disorder does not exist.

The danger at the present time is that we might fall back on law-enforcement as the primary answer to our troubles. We might sit back and accept this enforcement of the law as a substitute for the more difficult task of making the world a better place in which to live for all people.

The younger generation has a lot to complain about, even if we don't always like the way in which they do it.

DREW PEARSON

Withdrawal Of Ships Strategic About-Face

WASHINGTON — Insiders feel that President Nixon made plenty of political hay from sending the U.S. Fleet into the Sea of Japan, and that he retreated in time not to lose any diplomatic hay.

It was carefully played down, but the inside fact is that the Navy was shifted out of the Sea of Japan solely at the behest of Moscow.

The incident is important because it indicates how much cooperation has been worked out between the Nixon administration and the Kremlin.

What happened was that when the EC-121 was shot down off the North Korean coast, Nixon did two things:

1. He sent a personal message to Chairman Leonid Brezhnev asking for Soviet cooperation in rescuing the crew of the downed airplane. The Russians cooperated wholeheartedly. They knew from their own radar that the ship was well outside the North Korean air space.

2. Nixon searched for some way of fulfilling his Miami Beach statement that when the United States bows "to a fourth-rate military power" it needs to change leadership. It was an embarrassing statement which he couldn't entirely ignore.

Fortunately Nixon found that a number of ships had finished their operations against North Vietnam and could be spared to patrol North Korean waters. He was in a better position than President Johnson after the seizure of the Pueblo, because the latter occurred when every fighting ship was needed to turn back the Tet offensive.

So Nixon ordered a formidable task force of four carriers, three cruisers and twenty-two destroyers into the Sea of Japan. He forgot, however, that the Sea of Japan is regarded by Russia as the Caribbean is by the United States. We object vigorously to more than one or two foreign warships coming into the Caribbean.

Chairman Brezhnev sent a personal note to President Nixon questioning the purpose of the task force. It was couched in friendly language, but it was clear that the Kremlin was concerned that Nixon might be planning an attack upon North Korea.

To reassure the Russians, Nixon hastily withdrew the task force from the Sea of Japan and further reduced its size from twenty-nine to seven ships.

It was a drastic right-about-face. However, no announcement was made. It was the Japanese press which first published the story. Later the Navy issued a one-paragraph confirmation.

Support For Center

An alcoholic detoxification center in Lincoln has come a step closer to reality with a special committee of the Lincoln Hospital and Health Council approving "in principle" the proposal by the Salvation Army to provide a detoxification and rehabilitation center in cooperation with other agencies.

What is needed now is commitment by local governing bodies of support for the center and the city could be well on its way to establishing a truly first-class facility for treatment and rehabilitation.

Under the Salvation Army's plan, the detoxification center would be established in the Men's Social Service Center downtown with fulltime medical treatment for alcoholics — a service that is needed and not readily available in Lincoln today. The proposed operation would be a three-pronged effort coordinating programs of the university, the Salvation Army and the Veterans Administration Hospital's alcoholic rehabilitation program. Alcoholics Anonymous and other related agencies would also participate.

Designed after successful treatment centers in cities such as Des Moines and St. Louis, the detoxification center in addition to providing around-the-clock medical treatment for the acutely intoxicated would also provide an access to intensive rehabilitation programs, follow-up programs and family counseling concerning alcoholism.

The program is fairly costly — an estimated $226,900 annually to operate, and only a minor part of that would be made up from patient fees. Hopefully the city and the county will participate in supporting the center.

Nebraska Maps In Soup

If you were asked to name one thing in the public arena about which there could be no controversy, you might settle on highway maps. After all, a highway map simply tells you how to get from one place to the next and there can be nothing controversial about that.

Such, however, is not the case. The Nebraska Game Commission has published an "official" state map which is under fire because it was paid for by and, therefore, advertises a major oil company. The Department of Roads published an "official" map and it is under fire because it promotes Omaha as the only tourist attraction in the state.

So there you have it — choose up sides and start arguing. We will say that the fellow who dreamed up the Department of Roads approach had a bad dream. The idea is to promote Omaha this year in the map and other parts of the state in succeeding years.

That sounds fair enough but anybody ought to have known that it would raise a storm of protest. Who wants to wait a year while Omaha, in the meantime, gets all the publicity? And now that the idea has been so bombarded, it will be abandoned next year and Omaha will have been the only place in the state to have benefited from it.

Additionally, we can't understand why the state of Nebraska cannot get together and issue one official map and let it go at that, financed out of general tax revenues. The Game Commission should handle the promotion aspects of the thing but should not be made to sell the state's name to the highest bidder.

Secretary Rogers Prepares For Vietnam Trip With Fresh Hope In Negotiations For Peace

WASHINGTON — It can hardly be called optimism. In fact, there is a firm refusal to use that designation. Yet at the highest level the belief is taking hold that the Paris peace talks are inching toward at least the first faint outline of a settlement.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers will go off to Vietnam soon as the first stop on a 16-day Asian tour with a feeling of confidence. He is confident that the survival value of President Nguyen Van Thieu's government has steadily increased. But neither before nor after the secretary's four-day visit to Vietnam is there likely to come one of those all too frequent statements that things are looking up.

Within the Nixon administration is a strong awareness of the errors of the past. Foremost among them was the rosy optimism of the four-or-five-day VIP tripper that was given all the military briefings by generals with their best foot forward. With a much higher rating on the roster of errors was the invariable response of the Johnson administration to any reversal — send more troops and more guns. Rogers with a stern eye for the vastly swollen American apparatus and the serried rank upon rank of support troops who guard fixed installations of almost unbelievable size.

Not so much in the Paris talks as in a careful reading of incidental noises on the periphery is there reason for cautious hope that the communists are looking to an end of the fighting. Representatives from Hanoi have recently sounded out several governments in Europe on the prospects for trade and aid once the guns are silenced. This is true particularly of the Scandinavian countries. Trade representatives from Japan were recently received in Hanoi.

A new and hitherto unpublicized emphasis in the American approach in the Paris talks will also hopefully show results. Hanoi and the National Liberation Front are being told that it is all to their advantage to get a quick settlement. The longer they wait, the harsher the terms are certain to be and the stronger and more resistant will the South Vietnamese government and military become.

Delaying tactics will get you nowhere. That is the message from the American side hammered home in a variety of ways at each negotiating session. This is regarded as one explanation for the communist attack at the meeting last Thursday on the failure of the Nixon administration to bring peace in the first 100 days.

Another factor that seems peripheral but on which the administration puts great stress is the doctrine of limited sovereignty orchestrated by Leonid Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist Party general secretary.

But the shock of the doctrine, top policy-makers believe, extends far beyond the communist bloc. Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic is said to be distinctly nervous as more and more Soviet aid in one form and another pours in with the prospect that he will be told to toe the line or suffer the consequences.

Hanoi can read the signs of the Brezhnev chill. While being careful not to give the slightest public hint, since the Soviets are the biggest

Both Sides

Lincoln, Neb. This is in reply to the letter from Mrs. Eloise Burton in the May 3 Star. Mrs. Burton questioned my right to make any comments on matters of government. For her benefit and the benefit of any others who may be interested, here are the qualifications she requested.

In the matter of taxes: I have paid federal income tax every year since I was 16. Many years I have paid extra money, because the amount withheld from my salary did not cover my tax liability. I pay the full amount of state income and sales taxes that I am required to pay. I pay all city and county taxes that the city and county decide I am required to pay.

On my educational status: I am almost 22. I am to be a junior in the College of Business in NU. For the past 3½ years I have worked 46 hours or more per week to support myself and pay for my education. Often I carried a full load of university courses in addition to working. For the past two semesters, I have had a B average or better and this semester I will probably make a high B-plus average.

In the matter of competence: Since government affects all people from the moment a person is born to the moment he dies, it is every person's responsibility to keep informed on all issues. When a person sees a misrepresentation, it is his duty to correct it and to present the truth. I am sorry that Mrs. Burton did not feel competent to voice her opinions when she was a student. This may have been because she did not keep informed. I make every effort to be well read and to investigate matters for myself rather than depending on what may be the half-truths and scare tactics of others. A person's ability to reason often has more bearing on competence than his age does.

I have not tried to force anyone to do anything against his will. I have tried to present another side to the issue. I ask everyone to investigate both sides of the issues, make his own decisions and vote as he sees fit. To maintain a voice in government, it is necessary that we do this.

RICHARD ARCHER

The Professional

Lincoln, Neb. I consider myself a professional educator. I meet six classes of students every day and grade piles of papers, like everyone else, every night.

I believe in the importance of keeping our board of education — my employers — a citizen board and not a professional one. Every time we vote a professional educator to one spot on the board, we really do an injustice to the concept of public boards. The professional is too easily influenced by the administrator and the professional association leadership (which is not always responsive to the real teacher needs or attitudes, but rather to the vocal minority).

The concept of our government is that it be run by the citizens. I believe in that concept. I want to keep my employers out of the professional educator ranks. I am for keeping the present incumbents. They have done a quality job. We as teachers should be proud to have a board that is as responsive to teachers as this one is.

If all these reasons aren't enough, then I would add that experience is always the best when we have to select from the following three categories: experience, inexperience, professional educator.

Make mine Wekesser and Magee.

FRANCIS DORAIS

Progress Noted

Lincoln, Neb. How do the teachers look at the school board candidates? For one will stick with the incumbents — Wekesser and Magee.

During the past couple of years, under the leadership of John Prasch who was brought to the Lincoln Public Schools by the current board (incumbents included), the education in this city has really started to advance.

We teachers are naturally impatient. We all feel we should be better paid than we are. But, doesn't everyone? The board allows us negotiations for salary and our own negotiators really determine the salaries we get by the way they divide up the package.

Mr. Wekesser has consistently said we should pay good teachers to stay in the classroom — and at the same time has said that we should take a look around for new ways of utilizing staff people to get the most out of them. I think all good teachers agree with him.

It is also important to point out to the public — and the teachers — that the current board has been busy over the past year studying curriculum in detail. Each curriculum consultant has made suggestions for improvement in his special area. These briefings were recently completed. Now, and through the summer months when the budget is drafted, the board will have to make priority decisions on which of these recommendations they will accept.

If two new members — or even one — were added to the board at this time, they would totally lack the continuity needed to decide the important decisions which face them.

I hope the voters of Lincoln recognize that progress is really now starting to be made in all areas of education in Lincoln.

A TEACHER

Mrs. Scholz

Lincoln, Neb. Lincolinites have a chance to elect an exceptionally able, brilliant woman to the school board today — Mrs. Joyce Erickson Scholz.

Our schools are good but there is room for improvement. From years of working closely with her children's schools and from special pre-election investigations, she knows the trouble spots and places to save money. We need new blood and fresh ideas on the school board.

Senior Citizen Says Inherited Wealth Robbed Him Of Ambition

By ROBERT PETERSON
Q. — "The one thing I like about Russia is that they've abolished inheritances — parents can't leave a lot of wealth to their children. I'm 81 and know something of the evils, for I've lived all my life on trust funds set up by my great, great grandfather who invented textile machines. It robbed me of all ambition to use my talents and be a useful citizen. Did the same to my two sons, and now my grandsons. Don't you agree all children should start life on an equal financial footing?"

A. — Inherited wealth can breed apathy, but it would be wrong to deny men the right to build estates for their successors. Many brilliant men derive great incentive from their desire to accumulate money for their children and grandchildren. Parents are probably at fault when wealthy children grow up with a poor sense of values. Thousands of folks such as the Rockefellers and Kennedys have inherited fortunes but nevertheless maintain a deep interest in personal improvement and humanitarian service.

Q. — "I run a service station and my wife teaches kindergarten. Our daughter is grown and married. We've worked hard and saved our money, own our home, and have nearly $18,000 in savings and stock. We're making nearly $10,000 a year between us. But we don't really enjoy working for others and think we'd like to retire next year when I'm 50 and maybe open a gift-and-antique shop near our home. Does this make sense?"

A. — Sure it does — provided you're pretty sure you'll get more kicks running a shop than you do servicing cars and teaching small fry. Life is short at best and it's just plain wrong for you and your wife to spend precious days toiling at chores you don't particularly enjoy. With the security of home ownership and a healthy nest egg, you can readily quit your present jobs and begin savoring the satisfactions of a small business of your own.

Committee Holds Proposed Amendment On State Ed Board

A proposed constitutional amendment permitting the Legislature to determine whether the State Board of Education should be elected or appointed was held for study Monday by the Legislature's Education Committee. Sen. Terry Carpenter, sponsor of LB1366, said the constitutional change would give the Legislature "the flexibility it needs" in dealing with Nebraska's rapidly changing educational picture.

However, Ed Battcher of Talmage urged the present system of electing state board members with an appointed commissioner of education be retained.

Changes Predicted
"Voters go asleep on occasion," Battcher said, "but they will be making some changes when board members come up for election in 1970. Representative government is best in the long pull."

Also held by the committee was LB1088, increasing the pay of members of the State Board of Educational Lands and Funds from $20 to $40 per day, and LB1228, proposing to liberalize the eligibility of military personnel and other non-residents for resident tuition rates at the University of Nebraska and the state colleges.

The committee also met in non-public session with two opponents to the use of certain sex information materials in the public schools.

Mrs. Willard Grothe of Omaha and Mrs. Warren Dunn of Ralston charged that materials supported by the Sex Information and Education Council of the United States (SIECUS) are being used in some public schools, including several in Omaham.

None Used
However, the Omaha PTA said in a telegram it doesn't support SIECUS materials, and none have been used in the Omaha schools.

The two women asked the committee's advice in seeking state legislation on the problem.

However, comments of several committee members indicated that the problem, if one existed, should be taken up with "local boards of education."

Last month, the State Board of Education condemned in a resolution the use of SIECUS materials, but otherwise indicated the problem was of local concern and control.

Aid Hike To Be Grouped With Other Spending Bills

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature Monday called back from final reading a bill to increase state aid to junior colleges, and decided to consider all major spending bills at the same time.

All proposals which would cost more than $50,000 in general fund money for the biennium will be grouped together on general file for what Speaker Jerome Warner called "a weeding out process."

Those spending bills which survive a first look would be bracketed together on select file, where senators could establish spending priorities.

The matter came to a head when Sen. C. W. Holmquist of Oakland renewed his request to return the junior college aid bill from final reading to select file, where it would be killed.

Holmquist won 32-13 approval to call the bill back from its final reading position.

Kill Motion Nixed

But lawmakers, on an 18-27 vote, turned down Holmquist's motion to kill the proposal.

Instead, they accepted on a 33-4 count Sen. Herb Duis' proposal that spending measures be grouped together for future consideration.

The junior college bill, LB1280, was held on select file where it will be joined by other spending bills which survive first round floor debate.

Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, chairman of the Budget Committee, endorsed the holding action.

Without taking some action to provide senators with a view of the total spending picture, Marvel warned, "we're going to be in deep, deep trouble."

Tax Hike

Funding of the operational budget for state agencies, according to estimates from Gov. Norbert Tiemann, is going to require an increase in the sales tax rate to 2½%, he indicated.

Using cost projections suggested by Warner last week,

Marvel estimated that $60 million "over and above the present operational costs" would be available during the biennium for additional funding of the sales tax rate is boosted to 3%, and the personal income tax is hiked to 12%.

"Personally, I do not intend to go beyond that figure," Marvel noted.

Seven of the Budget Committee's nine members voted to kill the junior college funding proposal.

Would Boost Aid

LB1280 would boost state aid from $7.50 to $10 per Nebraska resident student credit hour at junior colleges in McCook, Fairbury, Scottsbluff, Norfolk, North Platte and Columbus.

Additional costs of $1,476,460 were estimated by the legislative fiscal office. Sen. Lester Harsh of McCook, chairman of the Education Committee, estimated the cost at $600,000.

Holmquist said the bill provided the Legislature with an opportunity to begin to hold down spending increases.

Supporters of the bill argued that junior colleges are the state's greatest bargain in post-high school

Beatrice Home Commitment Bill Is Revised

By United Press International

A bill to provide for the voluntary commitment of mentally retarded persons to the Beatrice State Home was revived by the Legislature Monday after its sponsors promised to amend it.

The bill, LB728, was killed by the Unicameral last week after critics said it went too far. Monday, however, Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen said he has been working up some amendments to the bill with its sponsor, State Sen. Harold Simpson of Lincoln.

Simpson said the amendments would deal with several areas of the bill. He said one of the most important would be retention involuntary commitment for mentally retarded persons in some form.

The vote to reconsider was 30-1 with Omaha Sen. Clifton Batchelder the only one opposing it.

education, and should receive additional assistance.

First Priority

Sen. Ramey Whitney of Chappell said the first aid priority should go to elementary and secondary schools, and Sen. John Knight of Lincoln suggested that vocational technical schools need the assistance.

Sen. Clifton Batchelder of Omaha argued that the Legislature should begin to "back away from excessive spending bills."

Batchelder, regarded as the Budget Committee's most conservative member, told lawmakers he believes he will be "proud of its decision" on operational requests. The committee's recommendations are due this month.

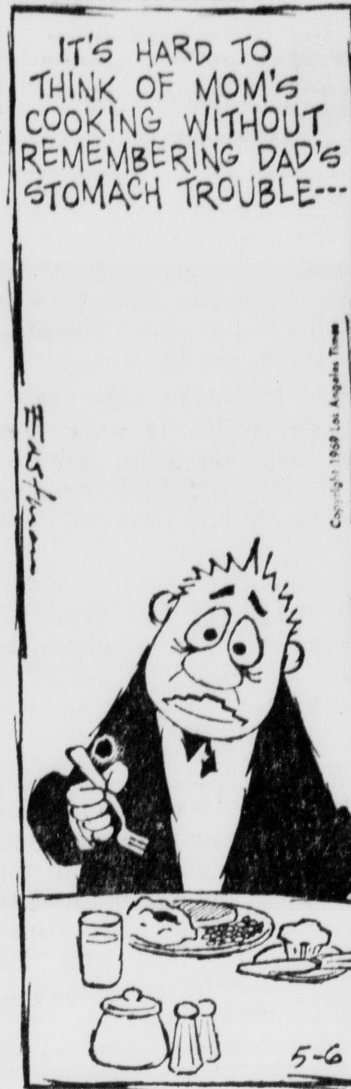

The vote on the motion to kill LB1280:

For: Adamson, Batchelder, Budd, Hasebrook, Holmquist, Kiever, Knight, Kokes, Kremer, Moilan, Orme, Reynolds, Schmit, Skarda, Walliwey, Whitney, Wittke, Wyle.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplaine

This is the finest time of year in the green grape valleys just north of San Francisco. The hills are flushed with sea-blue lupine. Splashed with poppies yellow as butter.

Before the turn of the century, some well-heeled European immigrants came here. They found the soil and summer grew grapes that made a superior wine. And that the limestone hills could be hollowed with caves just right to store it.

Now on weekends, the city folk drive up here and taste the grapes. You can visit the wineries. The glass of wine is on the house.

We drove up on back roads where reedy stretches of the Bay reach into farm lands. Red wing blackbirds are nesting by the thousands.

Past farmhouses whose owners wait hopefully for the rich real estate developer. ("26 Acres For Sale").

Through sleepy Sonoma where the Bear Flag was raised. (Excellent Mexican restaurant across from the mission.)

Dipped into Sonoma valley to where a wild mountain road climbs through live oak and madrone. At the summit, you look down and see the green Napa valley from end to end.

Is golf better than grapes? The fragrant wine better than the summer home? Real estate is booming in the valley only an hour's drive from the city.

The biggest development is in the wooded hills where Amfac of Honolulu and Ed Westgate, the builder, have surrounded two Robert Trent Jones golf courses with condominium "second homes."

Along with his "second home" the buyer gets a country club. Tennis courts. Swimming pools. And "24 hour security."

If you don't use it all the time, they'll rent it out. About $100 a weekend.

Development has not reached the grapevine floor of the valley. But there are new lively little redwood real estate offices offering existing houses.

It is perfect tract housing country. Flat and dry. And I don't see how it can escape the inevitable.

The high country is more attractive. The mountains are full of lush green valleys. Red rock canyons. There are deer all over the place. (But the California grizzly of the Bear Flag has gone forever.)

The hills are full of fat white-face cattle. It's a good year for cattlemen. The heavy winter rains put a thick grass over the country. (When grass is good, you don't have to buy feed. And there's the difference between profit and loss.)

California wine is selling well — wine makers can't meet the demand in the best bottlings. And this may save the valley yet.

The long lovely rural valley is discovery country. George Yount, the mountain man who worked for General Ashley in the Rocky Mountain fur trade. He was first.

The European wine grows put the valley to work. You see their old stone wineries along the little single railroad track. Quiet. Covered with vines.

In the dark, cool interior, the magic of the grape is going on. The fermentation that will end in a bottle of sunshine.

We had lunch up here at a little grapevine place beside the road. Hearty Italian stuff. Spaghetti and veal and red wine from the valley. And so homeward under skies turning evening blue and the valley misty in the shadow of the mountain range.

Senators Kill Fee Ceiling For Employment Agencies

By United Press International

A bill which would have put a ceiling on the amount employment agencies can charge persons for whom they secure jobs was killed on a 28-10 vote by the Legislature Monday.

The action came after Omaha Sen. Clifton Batchelder called the bill "one of the most presumptuous of any bill I have witnessed in the legislature."

Batchelder, who made the motion to kill the bill, LB539, said "who are we to say what is a fair price for a job?"

The bill would have put a ceiling of 70% of the first month's salary on the charge agencies could make for jobs paying more than $500 per month. The sliding scale would have gone down to a charge of 40% of the first month's salary for jobs paying less than $200 a month.

The bill was sponsored by State Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, who said it was needed "to see that the shyster doesn't run wild."

"We have an obligation to see that those people who don't understand and don't read the fine print are protected," he said. "It would be my opinion that if the employment agencies can't live on 50% of the salary of those they find jobs for, they don't deserve to live."

Council Again Rejects Medical Complex Plan

The Lincoln City Council, voting 4-2, rejected Monday an amended proposal by C. Bernard Hilgert for development of a medical complex in the vicinity of the St. Elizabeth and Veterans Administration Hospitals.

Hilgert's request for G Local Business zoning in the residentially zoned area at 70th and O Sts. had been turned down earlier, but was brought up for reconsideration when Hilgert agreed to eliminate the planned restaurant and drugstore.

The complex, according to a restrictive covenant filed by Gateway Medical Village Inc., of which Hilgert is president, would have included the motel and professional office buildings included in the original plans.

More Requests

Council members voting against the zoning change indicated once again that they believed approval of the request would likely lead to future business zoning requests in the area.

Arguing for the zoning change were Councilmen Bill Davidson and John Comstock, who said the medical complex would be an ideal use for the land near the hospitals.

Comstock also claimed that it is unfair to permit St. Elizabeth Hospital to provide office space for staff doctors and then deny Hilgert his request.

But Councilwoman Mrs. Helen Boosalis refuted the implication, saying there is a difference in what the hospital and Hilgert want to do.

Entire Area

Councilman Carroll Thompson said the request should not be approved without a rezoning of the entire area near 70th and O Sts. Thompson said approval would lead to other businessmen using the change of zone as an argument for more business zoning in the 40-acre area of O St. from 70th to 66th, and 70th from O to St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Robert Weigel, an officer in the corporation that already owns the land for the proposed development, after the meeting said the land would "not be developed residentially for the next 100 years."

Law Department

The council also approved a reorganization of the law department in okaying an ordinance that includes substantial salary hikes for assistant city attorneys.

Sugar Substitute Ban Is Proposed

Washington (AP) — Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., urged Monday that the government ban — except on prescription — the sale of products sweetened with cyclamate, a sugar substitute.

"Tens of millions of children and adults across the nation are unwittingly being exposed to potentially serious health hazards by the unnecessary consumption of cyclamate-sweetened soft drinks, cereals, desserts and 'sugar'-coated pills," Nelson said.

The new salary ranges will become effective when the ordinance is signed by the mayor.

The reorganization was proposed by City Attorney Norman Krivosha.

John Comstock, the only councilman to oppose the ordinance, urged that action be delayed until after the results are known in the vote on a charter amendment regarding department head salaries.

No Effect

But other councilmen disagreed, pointing out that the fate of the amendment will have no effect on the new salary range.

Prior to the council meeting, Comstock criticized delays in work on the downtown mall.

"Rome was not built in a day but they both (Rome and the mall) are taking just as long," he quipped.

Received Letter

During the pre-council meeting, Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf announced that he had received a letter from Rep. Robert Denney of the First District in which Denney said the city's application for $1.75 million in federal aid for sanitary sewer projects will probably be funded in the coming fiscal year.

In other action at the council meeting, a community unit plan in the area of 70th and Van Dorn was approved with the provision that the developers reduce the number of units from 155 to 125.

NEW NORTHEAST CAFETERIA OPENS

Northeast High School students select their first lunches in the new cafeteria Monday. Appropriate ribbon-cutting ceremonies opened the $250,000 facility which seats some 450 students at one time, eliminating the need to serve modified lunches in the student lounge. By next fall, Northeast expects to have a new library and media center in the old cafeteria. Art rooms are being considered for the library space. (Star Photo.)

10% Corn Now Planted, Normal For This Date

Corn planting in Nebraska picked up momentum last week with 10% of the acreage now planted, near normal but less than last year's 20% planted at this time.

This was disclosed Monday in the weekly crop-weather report of the State-Federal Bureau of Agricultural Statistics.

Surface soils are dry in many areas, but subsoil moisture is adequate for most counties, the bureau said.

Other comments from the report: Wheat is making good progress and developing evenly across the state. Most spraying operations for cutworm control have been accomplished, and limited worm damage occurred.

Some wheat fields in eastern areas are being torn up as a result of winter kill.

Beets Replanted

Field activity consisted mainly of seed bed preparation and fertilizing. Most of the freeze damaged sugar beets were replanted in the Panhandle, and fall potato planting is well under way.

Alfalfa is making good development with some fields in the central area about ready for dehydration cuttings.

Rainfall received through the state during the past week included:

Misplaced Jet Stream Said Reason For Few Tornadoes

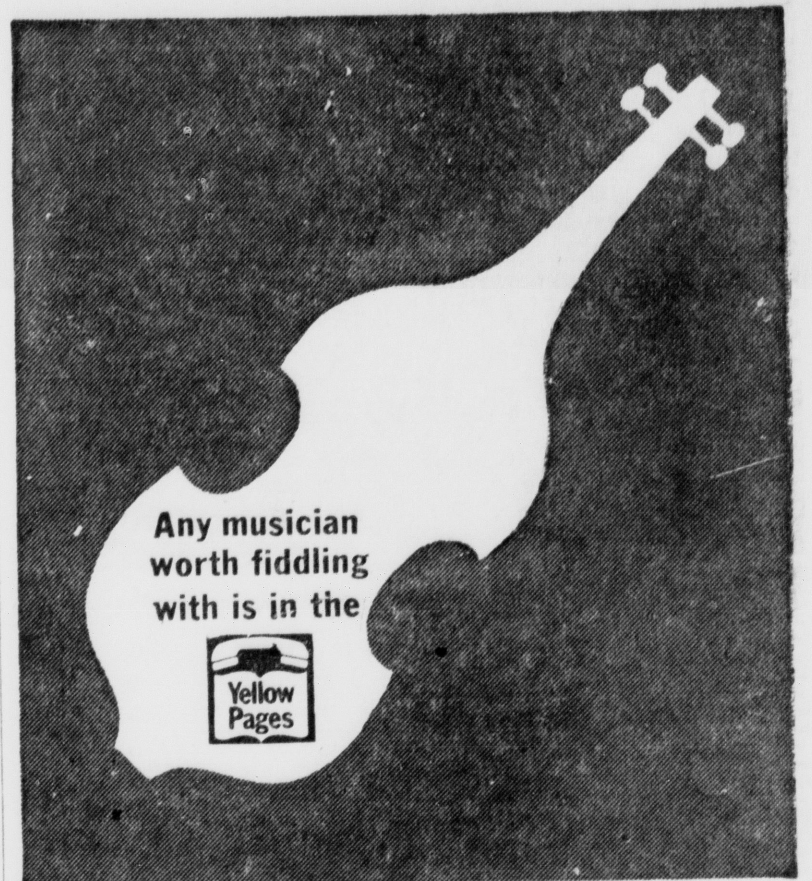

Kansas City (AP) — A misplaced jet stream was credited Monday with the unusually low number of tornadoes reported over the United States thus far this year.

The Weather Bureau's national severe storm forecasting center here said it received only 76 twister sightings in April, compared with 116 in April last year.

A Weather Bureau spokesman said fewer than 100 tornadoes were sighted in the first four months of the year — about half the usual number.

Experts explained the jet stream of cool, dry air which often collides with warm, moist air and produces tornadoes across the nation's midsection has been located further south this spring than usual. The result has been more rain and few twisters.

New Conductors, New Artists To Be Presented During American Symphony's 1969-70 Season

BY RAYMOND ERICSON
(c) New York Times Service

New York — The novelties go up while the prices go down in on way of characterizing the American Symphony Orchestra's 1969-70 season. Leopold Stokowski will be leading the ensemble he founded into its eighth season at Carnegie Hall on Monday, Oct. 6. Thereafter the series will follow its regular pattern of Sunday afternoon and Monday night concerts.

Novelties, in this instance, must include conductors and soloists who have not previously appeared here; together with the new works they make an intriguing list.

One guest conductor, Hans Werner Henze, led his opera "Elegy For Young Lovers" when the Juilliard School did it some seasons ago. He has not been heard in concert in New York. He will bring with him two of his own works unperformed here, the recent "Essay on Pigs," written as a reaction to the riot that prevented a performance of one of his pieces in Germany, and the lengthy piano concerto No. 2. Finally, Henze will introduce Luigi Nono's "Tai-Wan Cheng" locally.

Kazuoshi Akiyama, assistant conductor of the Toronto Symphony, will make his New York debut, and other guest conductors will be Jascha Horenstein, Yehudi Menuhin and Ainslee Cox, the orchestra's assistant conductor.

Another Japanese, the violinist Teiko Maehaski, will be a soloist new locally. So will Natasha Gutman, Russian cellist, and Berit Lindholm, Swedish soprano. William Read will be heard in the New York premiere of Victorio Rieti's harpsichord concerto, Jean Pierre Rampal in the New York premiere at Aram Khachaturian's flute concerto. Jerome Hines, Stephen Bishop, Lorin Hollander, Hephzibah Menuhin and John Ogdon are other scheduled soloists. Henry Eichem's "Japanese Nocturne," Gottschalk's symphony No. 2, "Montevideo," and Witold Lutoslawski's postlude are additional premieres.

As for the prices: the 14-concert subscription series is being reduced on the main floor from $64 and $58 to $50. Dress circle subscriptions will come down to $35. Single ticket prices will be $4 on the main floor, $3 in the dress circle. The entire balcony will be available on a first-come-first-served basis at $1 a ticket, which Samuel Rubin, president of the orchestra, hopes "will attract more and more young people."

Festival

All spectators and dancers in the area are invited to attend the 19th annual square dance festival to be held Saturday, at the Omaha Civic Auditorium.

"Singin' Sam Mitchell" of

Lansing, Mich., will be featured, and instruction in round dancing will be given from 2 o'clock to 3:30 o'clock by Paul and Edna Tinsley of Ottumwa, Iowa.

Past Presidents Honored At Luncheon

Special guests of the Nebraska Unicameral Ladies Club at the group's weekly luncheon and program, held Monday at the Hotel Lincoln, were past presidents of the organization.

Seated (from the right) are Mrs. C. Petrus Peterson,

baugh, Dakota City; and the current club president, Mrs. Harold Moylan of Omaha.

Cabaret Ball Chairman Hold Meeting

No need to guess the topic of conversation when the foursome pictured above met at the home of Mrs. William Dahlstrom — we know what it was. It had to do with Friday, May 16.

We hope that date hasn't slipped your mind, but if it has we'll tell you again that May 16 is the date of the Cabaret Ball which is to be held in the ballroom of Hotel Cornhusker and which really will have a cabaret theme during the dining and dancing evening.

The Cabaret Ball is a money-making project planned by the Lancaster Unit of the American Cancer Society — and that should be enough to give it top priority on everyone's calendar.

with Mrs. Robert Simon, heads the decorating committee; Mrs. L. J. Keenan, general chairman of the Ball; Mrs. Richard Childs, chairman in charge of the cabaret show participants, and Mrs. Dahlstrom, publicity chairman.

Wedding Plans And Parties

Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. O'Hara of Omaha, will be host and hostess next Friday evening when they will honor their son, Thomas C. O'Hara, and his fiancée, Miss Nancy Jean Crosby, whose marriage will be an event of Saturday, May 10.

Members of the bridal party and family have been invited to the pre-nuptial dinner, which will be held at the Colonial Inn.

For her 7 o'clock evening wedding, which will take place at Westminster Presbyterian Church, Miss Crosby has named Miss Sandra Wise as her honor attendant. Her bridesmaids will be Miss Judith Brauch, Miss Marsha Kahm, Miss Mary Tidball and Miss Linda Walter.

Daniel Gatto will serve Mr. O'Hara as best man, and the corps of ushers will include Bob Best of McCook; Ken Ferrarini and James Iverson, Omaha; David Heiser of Columbus; William Strateman, Gretna; and Michael McNair, Lincoln.

The bride-to-be, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Crosby, was presented a personal shower last Saturday afternoon at a luncheon for which Mrs. Sandra Wise was hostess at Hillcrest Country Club.

Miss Crosby's bridal attendants honored her on Saturday, April 26, at a brunch held at the home of Miss Mary Sue Tidball. Co-hostesses for the pottery and china shower were Miss Judith Brauch, Miss Marsha Kahm, Miss Linda Walter and Miss Sandra Wise.

Also honoring the bride-elect recently were Mrs. Dayle Johnson and Mrs. Harriet Hartsock who were hostesses at a miscellaneous shower held at the home of Mrs. Johnson.

Bridal Showers

The May calendar quite literally is bursting at the seams with bridal courtesies for the numerous Lincoln brides-elect who have chosen June wedding dates.

The courtesy series for Miss Garland Louise Kiner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Kiner, began on Sunday afternoon when a miscellaneous shower was presented to the bride-to-be. Hostesses for the informal party were Miss Dolores Eskey, Mrs. Gary Steinke and Mrs. Fred Peterka, Jr., and the guests included feminine members of the family of Miss Kiner's fiancé, Leo Joseph Eskey.

Miss Kiner, who has announced that her wedding will take place June 27, also will be honored at a bridal shower on Sunday afternoon, May 25. The courtesy will be held at the home of Mrs. Marvin Kelle, and co-hostess will be Mrs. Kelle's daughter, Mrs. Chris Wickham.

Miss Jody Meradith, University of Nebraska coed, whose betrothal to David Johnston, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Johnston, was revealed recently, was the honored guest at a personal shower on Sunday afternoon when her Alpha Omicron Pi sorority sisters entertained at the home of Mrs. Michael Bonham. Co-hostesses with Mrs. Bonham were Miss Kathy Metz and Miss Nancy Wood.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jay Meradith of York, Miss Meradith has chosen June 21, as the date for her wedding, which will take place in York.

Opening the bridal courtesies for Miss Linda Kaye Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rollo G. Morris, will be Mrs. Max Burroughs and Miss Nancy Burroughs who are planning a luncheon and bridal shower for the June bride elect to be held on Sunday, May 18.

Abby: you're much to obvious

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Can you help me find a position as live-in housekeeper in a motherless home? It must be a modern home in the most desirable section of the city. (No remote, country or farm locations, please.) The father must be between 40 and 50, no older. And he must be at least 6 feet tall as I am a well-proportioned 5 ft. 8 and do not feel comfortable with shorter men around me.

I am well-dressed, attractive and well-groomed. Enjoy good music, dancing, and outdoor sports. I am 35 years old and in excellent health and can furnish character references.

BOX NO. 322

DEAR BOX NO. 322: You sound as tho you are looking for a man, not a job. If it's a position you're after register with an employment agency, or place an ad in the classified section of this newspaper. If it's a man you're after, your approach is clever, but much too obvious.

DEAR ABBY: As a welfare mother, I am tired of hearing all welfare mothers judged by a few rotten apples. (Those who sleep with men, booze it up, and have one illegitimate child after another to pick up the welfare check.)

Prior to going on welfare, I worked full time. Then I was advised by my child's doctor to stay home with my child as she was already upset enough by Daddy's "sudden disappearance."

Abby, there are many welfare mothers like myself who do not drink and run with men, but stay home and raise their children, because they realize the importance of a mother's guidance during the children's formative years. Guidance which we never had because we ourselves came from broken homes.

Granted there are bad welfare mothers, just as there are bad mothers among the taxpayers. Mothers who spend their days having affairs with other men while their husbands are out working to support them, so perhaps the taxpayers should stop slinging dirt and get the rake going in their own backyards.

And if I am one who is taking your tax dollars, please stop by so I can kiss your feet because it is YOU, the taxpayer, who is making it possible for me to be the kind of mother I always wanted and never had.

Opening lead — jack of diamonds.

Timing is a very important factor in the play of many hands. When declarer has a number of different chores to perform, the order in which he does them is frequently crucial.

Examine this deal where West leads a diamond. How should South proceed? He can start by leading a trump, or by attempting a finesse in either clubs or spades.

Suppose he starts by leading a trump, as many players would do. West takes the ace and plays another diamond. Eventually South goes down one, losing a trick in each suit, because the spade and club finesses both fail when attempted.

True, the result is unlucky, but it is also traceable to a wrong choice of plays. Declarer should not rely on the probability of one of the finesses succeeding when he has a far more promising method of play available.

South should take the view that there are more urgent matters to attend to than tackling the trumps, since this can be done just as well later on. A premature trump lead gives the defense the timing to establish a diamond trick.

Instead South should win the diamond lead with the king and play the A-10 of spades. He deliberately abandons the spade finesse in order to first establish a spade trick in dummy on which to discard a diamond.

If South plays in this fashion, he winds up losing a spade, a heart and a club, and makes the contract. West can win with the spade king and return a diamond, but dummy takes the ace and cashes the queen of spades for the vital diamond discard.

By attacking spades first, South wins the crucial race against time. He establishes a spade before the defense can establish a diamond. If declarer attacks either trumps or clubs at trick two, he loses an important tempo and must eventually go down one against proper defense.

These are exciting times at Bankers Life Nebraska

We'd like to share them with you.

It's always a pleasure to share good news with people in our own home town. May 5th marks the occasion of our annual meeting and 82nd birthday. Much of the success we have achieved would not have been possible without the fine cooperation of the people of Lincoln and the state of Nebraska.

We have just attained our second billion dollars of insurance in force. This is an accomplishment of great significance to us and is representative of the outstanding growth Bankers Life Nebraska has experienced. For, while it took us 75 years to achieve our first billion of insurance in force, it has taken us only 7 years to achieve the second billion. We now have assets in excess of $300 million, an 11% gain in 1968, and rank among the top 100 companies in size of the more than 1,700 insurance companies in business in the United States.

policy number 600,000 that achieved the $2 billion of insurance in force. Mr. Frey is the oldest active Bankers Life Nebraska agent. His career with our company has spanned 57 years. The policy was purchased by Harold Stebbins, Vice President of Bankers Life Nebraska, who has been associated with the company for 43 years.

In the first quarter of 1969 Bankers Life Nebraska sales were greater than during the entire year of 1956. One of the reasons for this accelerated growth is a continuing breakthrough in new product development. One such new product is T Plus, especially designed for married men between the ages of 20 and 45. T Plus incorporates the low cost advantages of Term insurance with the cash values and paid up insurance advantages of Ordinary Life. T Plus represents a Bankers Life Nebraska "first" and has already proved to be very successful. In March of this year, Mr. Michael Davis of Miami, Florida, purchased a T Plus policy in the amount of $11 million—the largest single Life insurance policy ever written on one individual.

Mike Davis, on the left, receives the largest single Life insurance policy ever written on one individual from company President George Cook.

We are now also offering a new Group/Extra Ordinary product. This is an innovation in the Group sales field which allows us to automatically issue additional Ordinary Life contracts to individuals who are insured under our Group plans.

As a Nebraska based company we are particularly proud of the appointment of Doctor Clifford M. Hardin, former Chancellor of the University of Nebraska, to serve as Secretary of Agriculture. This has special significance for us, because Doctor

Dr. Clifford Hardin

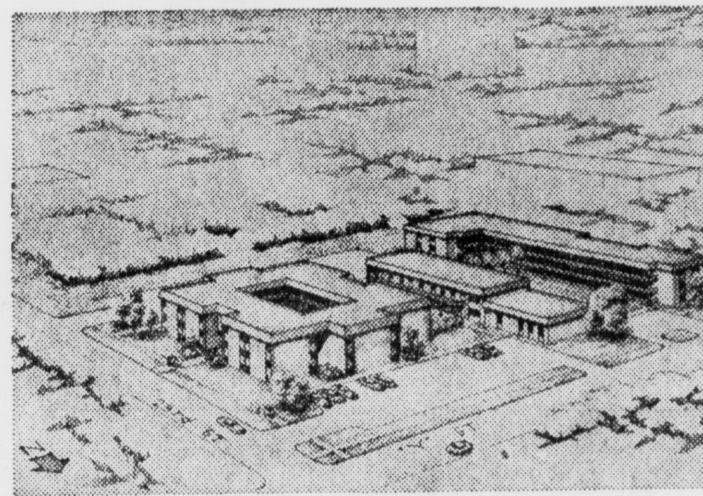

Robert B. Daugherty

Hardin has been a member of our Board of Trustees for the past ten years, and has made many contributions to our company.

As a result of his presidential appointment, Doctor Hardin has necessarily had to sever all personal business relationships. Although we regret losing his counsel we have felt obliged to replace him on our Board. At our February Trustees meeting we elected Robert B. Daugherty of Omaha to fill this vacancy. Mr. Daugherty is one of Nebraska's outstanding young industrialists and is Chief Executive Officer of Valmont Industries, Inc. which he helped found in 1952. We feel confident that Mr. Daugherty will bring unusually valuable insight and experience to our Board.

Last year the Life insurance industry pledged one billion dollars toward the improvement of conditions in urban areas. During 1968, in cooperation with four other Lincoln based Life insurance companies, our company committed more than $230,000 toward the planning and construction of a 78 unit, Bankers Life Nebraska has committed more than $230,000 toward the construction of this 78 unit apartment at 23rd and Y Street in Lincoln.

$830,000 apartment facility for low income families in Lincoln. The facility will be leased to the Lincoln Housing Authority under its rent-assistance program with the Federal Housing and Urban Development program. In addition, we have pledged our support toward the Life insurance industry's second billion commitment for urban improvement.

As a company founded in Lincoln we are particularly proud of the economic contribution that we're able to make in Nebraska. We have more than $35,297,000 of company funds invested just in Nebraska with the majority invested in Lincoln. In addition, the 1968 home office payroll exceeded $2,400,000 and the home office alone continues to spend more than $1,000,000 a year for goods and services in the Lincoln area.

Although our past 82 years have been unusually successful, we are looking forward in 1969 to an even greater challenge.

Stu, Jackie Still Colorful

Two of the more colorful ball players ever to lace on a pair of spikes in a Nebraska clubhouse are Dick Stuart, who once hit 66 home runs in Lincoln, and Jackie Brandt, the Omaha native.

And old age isn't changing them a great deal.

During a recent road trip with Oklahoma City to Des Moines, Brandt explained to Oklahoma City writer Volney Meese what he did one night when he couldn't sleep: "I turned on the color TV set and watched the test pattern. It was pretty, but it didn't have any plot to it."

Stuart, who is now with the California Angels relates an incident that happened in Hiroshima while he was playing in the Japanese Leagues.

A crowd had gathered around a rival player, who was drawing something on a piece of paper. "What's that?" Stuart asked through an interpreter.

"He's showing what part of the city was destroyed by the atom bomb," Stuart was told.

Stuart then grabbed a bat and began drawing circles in the dirt. "What's that?" asked an English-speaking player. "Pearl Harbor," come Stu's reply.

The former Lincoln slugger also has a description of the Angels' double play combination when he's at first base: "Tinkers to Evers to Take A Chance."

A Problem With Youngsters

Missouri baseball coach Hi Simmons, trying to explain some of the reasons his Tigers aren't winning, says, "First of all, we're using five sophomores and a freshman in the starting lineup — and y'know what . . . they still have a helluva time — swallowing."

U.S. Open champion Lee Trevino claims he's coming out soon with two new golf instructional books, entitled, "How to Get More Distance Out of Your Shanks," and "How to Take The Proper Stance for Your Fourth Putt."

In a recent scrimmage, Oklahoma sophomore quarterback Jack Mildren completed 10 of 14 passes for 193 yards and two touchdowns. And he's only No. 2 behind Mickey Ripley.

Don't look now, but pro football is almost upon us again. Omaha Channel 6, WOW-TV, will begin CBS-TV's weekly series "NFL Action on May 25 with the series to run each Sunday from 3 to 3:30.

Michigan State football coach Duffy Daughterty says he's planning to adapt the inside belly series with Houston's Veer-T and Texas' Wishbone-T, explaining, "What makes it work is that you don't block the end, something we've always been very adept at."

Oklahoma's Dennis Cotner says the reason he likes to run the gruelling 440 intermediate hurdles is "it gives me something to do besides just run around the track."

Cowboys To Throw

The Big Eight, already a pass-minded league, will be even more so next fall with Oklahoma State joining the aerial program.

At one point in O-State workouts this spring under new coach Floyd Gass, quarterback Robert Cutbirth had completed 24 of 40 passes for 791 yards and seven touchdowns in Cowboy scrimmages.

Attention duffers: The USGA's list of golf balls that go farther and faster than they're supposed to and are thus illegal for competition consists of the Golden Ram without an "L" on the seamline, Lightning 500 with 100 compression, Penfold and Royal without a "C" on the seamline.

—HAVLICEK: 'BIGGEST'—

Celt Reaction To Win Varies

Los Angeles (AP) — Veteran Player-Coach Bill Russell took in stride the Boston Celtics' National Basketball Association championship Monday night. But to Capt. John Havlicek, this was something else as the Celtics prevailed over the Los Angeles Lakers, 108-106.

Russell, towering over newsmen in a jammed Celtics' dressing room, was asked how this one compared to the other Boston victories.

"After all, I've been in 11 championships and you can't single out any one in particular," he said.

"We play together as a team and we play a system that brings out the best of our guys. Comradship, friendship and teamwork — that is what make the Celtics go."

But Havlicek said, "This one was the biggest of them all. Every year it gets tougher and tougher and this year we kept coming back."

The other teams also get tougher but again we would not quit. We came back after a lot of setbacks and you've got to give Russell a lot of credit for the job that he did.

"Russell proved again he is a winner and the pride of the Celtics stems from him. Everyone contributed, even the fellows on the bench. This is a team."

The Lakers have lost six times to the Celtics to the finals since coming to Los Angeles. And Boston has never lost a seventh game in the title series.

The crowd of 17,568 in the Forum gave the Celtics' retiring star Sam Jones a standing ovation when he left the game with 7:05 remaining. It was almost as warm as Jones got from his own hometown crowd in his final game at the Boston Garden last Saturday.

"Sure, I heard the ovation. You couldn't miss it," said Jones, all smiles as reporters backed him into a corner for the interview. "We felt all along that if we got our running game going we'd be all right. But every time we'd get a lead, here would come the Lakers again. They were hard to keep down."

"We had opportunities all over the place to win the ball game but we just couldn't do it," said a somber Laker coach Bill van Breda Kolff.

"I really felt we had a chance to win it in the beginning of the third period because we were getting good shots. But the game just turned around instead."

"The ball just appeared to bounce their way. The Celtics are always willing to be taken, but they continue win. We just missed too many free throws, and yes, I think Johnny Egan passed up a couple of shots. But I had yelled at him earlier for taking what I thought were bad shots. So maybe I inhibited him."

Wilt Chamberlain went out of action with 5:19 remaining with an injured right knee. "Wilt wanted to go back in but I thought we were playing well without him and I wanted someone in there who could make some free throws," said the coach.

"It's hard for me to believe we lost the game," said Jerry West. "I just feel that we're a better ball club than Boston."

LA's Jerry West MVP In Playoffs

Los Angeles (AP) — Jerry West of the losing Los Angeles Lakers was named winner of the Sport Magazine NBA playoff award—a new automobile—as the outstanding player in the championship series against Boston.

Although Boston won the series four games to three Monday night with a 108-106 victory, West had 42 points and he scored 265 in the seven contests for a 37.8 average.

Flights To Omaha No Longer Concern Oliver

. . . KC ROOKIE JUMPS FROM .038 TO .304 IN WEEK OF TORRID HITTING

Kansas City (AP) — Just a week ago, big Bob Oliver was casting an anxious eye over the plane flights to Omaha, where the Kansas City Royals have a Triple-A farm team in the American Association.

The 6-foot-2, 215-pound rookie who turned 25 in February was batting .038 with one hit in 26 times at bat until he rapped a single off Twins right-hander Jim Perry in the seventh inning of the Royals' 4-0 loss at Minnesota last Monday.

His first hit came in the Royals' season opener here April 8 against the Twins. In between those two singles, he went 0-for-24.

Since last Monday's hit, however, Oliver has been nearly unstoppable. Last Tuesday is Minnesota, he hit his first major league home run and singled to launch a rampage which has seen him collect 16 hits in his last 30 trips to the plate for a .533 pace. That has elevated his season average to .304.

He climaxed his comeback with a perfect 6-for-6 day Sunday against the California Angels in Anaheim, thanks to an official scorer's change on a ninth-inning play which at first was called an error. He now has seven straight hits going into the Royals' game at Detroit tonight.

The affable Oliver, a natty dresser who originally signed with the Pittsburgh Pirates for a substantial bonus in 1963, did not know he'd been credited with his sixth hit until some 15 minutes after Sunday's game.

"I'll accept it," he said. "It could have been called either way." He referred to the scoring change on Aurelio Rodriguez' poor throw after stopping Oliver's hard smash near third base.

"I've got to be grateful to manager Joe Gordon for his patience," said Oliver. "He taught me how to relax at the plate and let me play when I couldn't buy a base hit."

Said Gordon, "The best thing about Bob is that he didn't panic. We figured he'd start hitting sooner or later, but I'll admit I was beginning to wonder."

The Royals sent former Pittsburgh outfielder George Spriggs to Omaha recently. He began hitting at Omaha and Gordon quipped, "I was wondering if I'd sent the wrong guy down."

The Royals acquired Oliver from Minnesota in the baseball expansion draft last fall. The Twins had obtained him in a trade following the 1967 season in which relief pitcher Ron Kline went to the Pirates.

Oliver hit .297 at Denver in the Pacific Coast League last season with 20 home runs and 93 runs batted in.

He still can't figure out why the Twins never took a look at him the second half of the 1968 season after Harmin Killebrew tore a hamstring muscle and Minnesota was hurting for right-handed punch.

"When Billy Martin became our manager at Denver in June," Oliver says, "he took me aside and told me that Minnesota needed a right-handed hitter and that if I kept hitting the ball I'd have a chance. But they never called me. I guess that's baseball."

CELTICS DO IT AGAIN

LA Succumbs On Own Court

. . . BOSTON WINS, 108-106

Los Angeles (AP) — Boston's Celtics built a 17-point lead and held off a gallant rally by Los Angeles to beat the Lakers 108-106 Monday night and retain their National Basketball Association title by capturing the final playoff, four games to three.

John Havlicek with 25 points and retiring Sam Jones with 24 led the Boston assault which took advantage of a third quarter Laker lapse for the victory.

The Celtics thus won their 11th NBA crown in 13 seasons since player-coach Bill Russell came on the scene.

Never were the Celtics headed in this finale before 17,568 in the Forum. When the Lakers did tie the count at 60-60, the Celtics exploded and ran their lead to 91-74 shortly before the end of the third period.

With less than 10 minutes to play, the Celtics again led by 17 at 100-83 before the Lakers staged their heroic but futile rally.

Jerry West, who ran up a 42-point total despite playing with a pulled hamstring muscle in his left leg, paced the comeback which saw the Lakers close within a point at 103-102.

Don Nelson, a former Laker, widened the gap with a shot which bounced high off the rim and through the nets.

The Lakers surged back until Russell neatly blocked a Mel Counts shot.

When Keith Erickson committed his sixth personal foul, Larry Siegfried added two free throws and Havlicek tossed in another to put the game out of reach.

At that, Elgin Baylor and John Egan sank field goals before the buzzer.

Jones, retiring to go into collegiate coaching, fouled out with seven minutes five seconds remaining and both Wilt Chamberlain and Russell were in the five-foul category.

Chamberlain went out with 5:19 remaining when he injured his right knee.

Wilt scored 18 while Baylor tallied 20 for the losers. Chamberlain grabbed 27 rebounds and Russell 21.

From the floor, the Celtics shot 46 per cent in successfully defending their title despite finishing fourth in the Eastern Division during the regular season. Then they dispatched Philadelphia, New York and now Los Angeles.

The Celtic squad collects $48,000 from the playoff.

The Lakers got $32,000.

In addition to the largest crowd ever to watch professional basketball in the Forum, the game was shown nationally on television with the local area blocked out.

Boston eld through the entire first half, holding a 28-25 margin at the quarter and 59-56 at intermission. At one point, with 3:15 left in the first period, the defending champs built a 12-point bulge at 24-12 But Baylor and West combined for 14 points in narrowing that gap.

Havlicek paced the Celtics with 10 points in the quarter, hitting 5-of-7 attempts from the floor, most of the long variety.

Baylor and West each contributed 10 to the Laker attack.

Boston pulled out again starting the second stanza with Havlicek and Emmette Bryant each hitting from the outside and building an eight-point margin at 39-31.

Three times Bryant — who had 29 points for the game — worked himself free for clear swishing shots.

Bryant, however, drew his fourth personal foul with 5:55 left and the Lakers pulled within a single point at 57-56. Tommy Hawkins fouled Jones at the buzzer and Sam calmly sank his free throws as the rest of the players left for the dressing room.

Held to a single field goal in the opening quarter, Chamberlain went to work in the second quarter and added 13 points to his total, including his two final free throws after missing all but one of his first seven tries from the line. He wound up, however, with only 4 of 13 charity tosses.

Havlicek and Bryant paced Boston scoring in the first half with 18 and 15 respectively, matching the totals for West and Chamberlain.

Devaney Experimenting With Patrick At Safety

. . . QUARTERBACK MODELS BLACK SHIRT

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

Quarterback Frank Patrick was handed a black shirt, the trademark of Nebraska's No. 1 defensive unit, as he walked from the fieldhouse for Monday's spring drill, but head coach Bob Devaney insisted the 6-7, 217-pounder was still his No. 1 quarterback.

"We're taking a look at him at safety in group work, Devaney commented. "And we'll continue to look at him there Wednesday and Friday, but he'll also work at quarterback and he'll quarterback the No. 1 offensive unit in Saturday's final scrimmage."

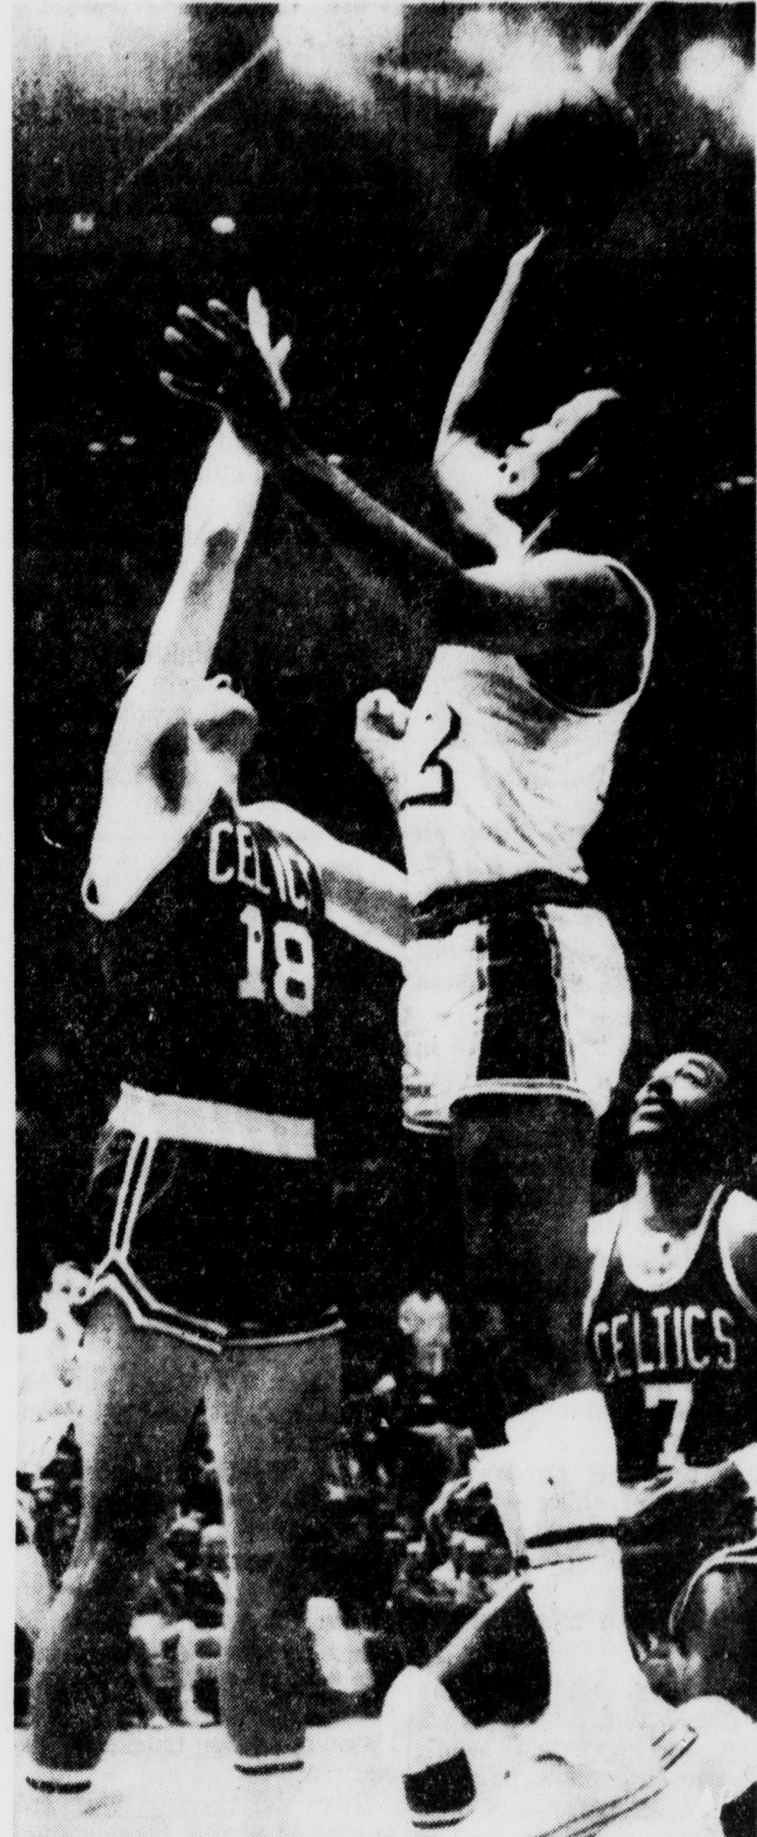

The Husker coach said Patrick might also see some duty on defense Saturday.

Devaney said one of the reasons for the safety experiment with Patrick was the uncertainty of the status of Randy Reeves, who has missed all of spring drills because of a knee operation.

"Whether we decide to keep him at safety will depend largely on how well he does at that spot and how well our other quarterbacks come along," Devaney pointed out.

Devaney indicated some of the decision could rest on how Tony Dvorsak recuperates from a knee injury, explaining, "If Tony doesn't recover properly, we might be hesitant to go strictly with the young fellows."

"It's a little hard to tell at present about our quarterback picture with Van Brownson and Dvorsak both hurt. Brownson was throwing some today, but we don't know yet if he'll be ready by Saturday."

Devaney said he had been pleased with the progress of sophomore Jerry Tagge, noting, "He's big, strong and leads the team well."

Nebraska coaches also thought of Patrick as a fullback and as a tight end before settling on the safety experiment.

"We think he'd be a good tight end," Devaney said. "But we already have a good tight end (Jim McFarland). We thought of him as a fullback, but we thought he might have trouble getting down to block some of those 6-foot line-backers."

"Frank is a good athlete and is aggressive. When he was playing defense as a freshman, he was perhaps one of our best defensive backs.

Devaney said he expected Patrick to be drafted by the pros next winter and that most pro scouts were thinking of him as a safety or as a tight end.

"But I want to emphasize this is strictly an experiment and after the spring game Saturday, we might junk the defensive idea and just say he's our No. 1 quarterback," Devaney asserted.

In another experiment Monday, Husker coaches took a look at linebacker George Chandler as a fullback.

"He looked to us like he'd be a tough blocker," Devaney said of the 5-8, 187-pounder from Park Forest, Ill., "And we're looking for tough kids at fullback."

The Huskers have only three drills dates left, including Saturday's annual intrasquad windup scrimmage at Memorial Stadium as a part of an All-Sports Day program that starts with a Nebraska-Iowa State baseball game at 11 a.m. and winds up with a Nebraska-Missouri track meet at 4 p.m.

Mexico City (AP) — Japan's flyweight Takeshi Nakamura will meet world champion Elen "Alacran" Torres for the world title at the end of July, promoter Pablo B. Ochoa announced Saturday night.

—COLT RUN DOWN—

Dike Won't Run In Preakness

Baltimore (AP) — Majestic Prince arrived in Baltimore Monday and received a piece of good news — Dike, one of his chief rivals in the Kentucky Derby, has been withdrawn from the Preakness at Pimlico May 17.

Dike's departure from the second of the triple crown races was announced Monday by trainer Lucien Laurin, who said the colt ran down badly in the Derby and would be rested for the Belmont Stakes May 31.

Trainer of Majestic Prince Johnny Longden accompanied the California colt on the flight from Kentucky, bedded him down at Pimlico then flew to California with plans to return to Baltimore Thursday.

"I don't have any idea how good this horse is, and I don't think anybody else knows," Longden said.

"He has done everything we've asked and done it well. Nobody can criticize him now for having not met the best."

Longden said the unbeaten Majestic Prince would be a sharper form for the 1 3-16 miles of the Preakness.

Longden said the California chestnut wasn't in top shape for the Kentucky Derby, which he won by a neck over Arts and Letters and three quarters of a length over Dike.

"He'll be a sharper horse in the Preakness," Longden said. "That's still more than a week away, so we'll work on him a little bit."

Longden said he is looking forward to a return match against Arts and Letters, "but I still don't think he will ever catch us."

Laurin said he would replace Dike with Jay Ray, winner of the California Derby April 19, and hinted he may also enter Blade in the $150,000-added Preakness.

Eddie Sweat, Laurin's groom, said Dike raced in Saturday's Derby at Churchill Downs in "run down bandages. But he scraped himself pretty good. Matter of fact, he ran down so badly, he came back bleeding."

Longden, asked to look ahead to the Belmont, said, "Oh, I don't expect any surprises. I like to play them by ear. If my horse is fit, I'll run him."

Longden won the triple crown as a jockey and would like to be known as the trainer who accomplished the same feat.

Babe's 715th Home Run Wiped Out

New York (AP) — Babe Ruth's 715th home run vanished into thin air Monday when the special baseball rules committee reversed its previous ruling on a winning hit of a June 8, 1918 game.

The home run in question was the result of an old rule that limited a winning hit in the last half of the final inning to the minimum number of bases required to score the tie-breaking run.

If the potential tie-breaking run was on third base, the batter was credited only with a single even if he were to hit the ball out of the park.

In Ruth's case he hit a ball out of the park in the 1918 game but was credited with a triple because the base runner who scored the winning run had been on first base. By changing this to a home run, the committee had given Ruth homer No. 715.

A team of researchers for Information Concepts, Inc., authorized to research all baseball plays from 1876 to the present discovered 36 such instances, including Ruth's hit.

"The mission of the computer people," said Joe Reichler, baseball's public relations director and a member of the committee, "as authorized by baseball's special records committee, was to research all data, correct obvious errors, uncover missing material and clear up gray areas."

"Upon reflection it was felt that the committee had gone beyond its authority in the interpretation of its instructions. It should not be the function of the committee to change or tamper with rules which governed baseball records at the time at which these records were made."

Reichler said the five-man committee voted to reverse its original vote by a 3-2 margin.

Majestic Prince Betting Too Heavy For Oddsmakers

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP) — A Las Vegas bookmaster said Monday betting was so heavy on Majestic Prince for the Kentucky Derby Saturday that many bettors had to be turned away.

Sam Cohen of Santa Anita's race book said he had no figures on betting but that in 20 years of bookmaking he has not seen so much wagering on one horse.

Bookmakers will not take too many bets on one horse or they will lose money if the horse wins.

Majestic Prince, a 6-5 favorite, finished first in the race.

Doane Relays Slated Today

... RECORD FIELD EXPECTED WITH TOP EFFORTS

Crete—Seven records were set or tied here last year in the Doane College Night Relays, and the 21st annual meet Tuesday, which this time around has drawn 27 entries from six states, should again produce some top performances.

The record field will be shooting at marks in 16 events. Track preliminaries and field events begin at 3:30 p.m., the college pole vault is at 6 p.m., with the opening relay at 8 p.m.

Only the shot put record (55-11½ by Fred Davis in 1967) seems out of reach among the current standards. Performances in the long jump and shuttle hurdle relay have also not come up to the Relays marks.

Two records apparently in jeopardy are the mile and sprint medley relays where Doane has a 3:15.7 and a 3:24.2 respectively, each four seconds below the listed marks.

Others that could go by the boards are the high jump (6-6) where Hastings' John Dvorak has done 6-7½ and Southwestern, Kan. leaver Mark Conrad is credited with 6-7¼; and the javelin (220-9) where Frank Burgasser of Wayne State has an NAIA best of 253-3½ this year.

The pole vault record is in danger. Defending champion Gary Pettitt of Morningside (14-6½), has already jumped 15-6 this spring.

Glenn Appell of Kansas Wesleyan, who established a mile mark of 4:19.5 last year, has done 4:16.9 this spring.

He'll get competition from John F. Kennedy's Harold Nolan (4:16.9) and Jack Wyers of Peru (4:15.4).

The best bet to eclipse the triple jump mark of 46-14 is Mark Weaver of North Platte Junior College, who has done 46-7½. The 168-1 discus heave could be surpassed by Peru's Mike Mulvaney, who throws consistently in that range along with Dave Hale of Ottawa, Kan.

Some of the other "bests" which could be improved enough to break Relays records are: Hastings' 42.2 in the 440-yard relay and a 1:28.7 in the 880-yard relay; Southwestern's 7:51.2 in the two-mile relay and Doane's 1:01.0 in the shuttle relay. Dvorak, who has done 14.3

in the 120-yard high hurdles, will have to go a shade faster to break the mark and there are 12 runners entered in the meet who have gone :09.8 in the 100, but the mark is :09.7.

Teams entered are: Kansas — College of Emporia, Kansas Wesleyan, Friends, McPherson, Ottawa, Southwestern and Tabor; Iowa — Buena Vista, Simpson and Morningside; South Dakota — Yankton; Missouri — Tarkio and William Jewell; Colorado — Colorado College.

Nebraska — Doane, Dana, Hastings, JFK, Midland, Nebraska Wesleyan, Pershing, Nebraska at Omaha, Peru, Wayne State, Fairbury JC, McCook JC and North Platte JC.

Jets' GM Signs Three-Year Pact

New York (AP) — Weeb Ewbank signed his third three-year contract Monday as coach and general manager of the New York Jets of the American Football League.

It is estimated that the new contract calls for about $65,000 a year. Ewbank got $40,000 in his first contract and a reported $50,000 in 1966. The Jets won the AFL championship last season and defeated the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League in the Super Bowl.

Ted: 'Pitching Senators' Key

Washington (AP) — The bull session in manager Ted Williams' office got around to the reasons for the early success of the Washington Senators—winners of five in a row, 10 of their last 11 and in second place in the American League's East Division.

All the writers contended the fast start was surprising for a club that finished last in 1968, 37½ games behind the champion Detroit Tigers. Not so Williams.

The newsmen were divided over the key to the Senators' good fortunes — Hank Allen, Del Unser, Ed Brinkman, Frank Howard, Dennis Higgins. Not so Williams.

"Do you want to know what the key to this club is?" he said. "I'll tell you what the key is. You guys will write what you want anyway but I'll tell you."

"The pitchers have been getting them out and they're

First Negro Inks For Grant-In-Aid With Mississippi

Oxford, Miss. (AP) — The University of Mississippi revealed Monday it had signed its first Negro to an athletic grant-in-aid scholarship.

The signing of J. T. Parnell, a football tailback from Jackson, Miss., was announced jointly by coach Johnny Vaught and athletic director C. M. "Bud" Smith.

Vaught said Parnell was the first Negro athlete that his recruiters had visited who expressed a desire to attend Ole Miss and who qualified academically as well as athletically.

"We are delighted to have him," said Vaught.

Parnell will graduate this month from Jackson's Brinkley High. He is 6-foot-1 and weighs 194 pounds.

Eagles To Name Retzlaff

Philadelphia (AP) — Pete Retzlaff, one of the all-time great ends of the National Football League, has been named vice president and general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles, The Associated Press learned Monday night.

The Eagles will officially make the announcement at a 9 a.m. CDT news conference Tuesday morning.

The 37-year-old Retzlaff succeeded Joe Kuharich, whose 10-year contract was bought out by the new Eagles' owner, Leonard Tose, Norristown, Pa., trucking executive.

Tose is turning the full operation of the Eagles over to Retzlaff, who has been a television sportscaster here since retiring as a player two years ago.

Retzlaff's first job will be to name a new coach. And The Associated Press also learned he favors Jerry Williams, another one time Eagles' star now coaching Calgary in the Canadian Football League.

Caigary's board of directors, however, has refused the Eagles permission to talk to Williams about the job. The board says Williams should abide by his four-year contract and remain with the Stampeders.

Should Retzlaff be unable to change the minds of the Calgary people, the No. 1 candidate for coach is Charley Gauer, an offensive coach with the Eagles in their 1960 championship season.

A two-way end for the Eagles for three years after graduating from Colgate in 1942, Gauer returned as an assistant coach in 1954 and remained through 1963.

Retzlaff was offered the combination of general manager-coach job by Tose, who purchased the Eagles from Jerry Wolman for $16,066,000 May 1.

Retzlaff, however, turned down the coaching position and took the general manager's post. He, in turn, recommended Williams or Gauer as coach.

Court To Rule On Residency Laws

... 5 Million Barred From Voting For President

Washington (UPI) — The Supreme Court announced Monday it will rule next term on state voter residency requirements which barred an estimated five million Americans from voting for president in 1968.

The issue will be the subject of oral arguments before the court next fall or winter. A written opinion will follow on a constitutional challenge to a Colorado requirement of six months' residency.

The requirements to vote in a presidential election vary from state to state, ranging from two years in Mississippi to less than three months in New York. In Wisconsin, a new resident can obtain a presidential ballot merely by showing proof he is eligible to vote in another state.

Nebraska Law
(In Nebraska, voters must have been residents of the state six months, of their county 40 days and of their precinct 10 days. To cast ballots in the city election, voters must have lived in Lincoln for three months.)

A Gallup Poll in December estimated that five million Americans were unable to cast presidential ballots because of state residency laws, the Colorado suit claimed.

It was initiated by Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hall who protested that they lost their right to vote for president in either state when they moved from California to Colorado Springs in mid-1963.

They argued that the Colorado six-month wait was unreasonably long and had no bearing on the state's intention of insuring that voters should be members of the community to be governed by those elected.

A three-judge federal court ruled against the Halls.

"The members of the court recognize the unfairness and injustice in depriving the plaintiffs of their vote," the lower court said. "However, we are powerless to remedy this since we must follow the law."

Colorado has since lowered the requirement to two months.

The Supreme Court in 1965 affirmed a lower court ruling in favor of a Maryland residency law but the Halls claimed that subsequent decisions have changed the situation.

The court on April 21 declared unconstitutional state laws requiring a one-year residency before an applicant can receive welfare benefits.

At that time Chief Justice Earl Warren expressed concern that this could lead to nullification of state laws on voting residency and licensing of professional people such as doctors and lawyers.

In a sequel at Monday's session, the court applied the April 21 ruling to welfare operations in Chicago, San Francisco and Pittsburgh.

CANADIAN WHISKY — A BLEND • 80 PROOF • IMPORTED BY NATIONAL DISTILLERS PRODUCTS CO., NEW YORK

Elegant tradition:
The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Tonight serve Windsor Canadian: the remarkable, sippin'-smooth Canadian that's already changing thousands of Americans' ideas on the whisky to serve.

Now compare Windsor! Pour two drinks —highballs or over ice—one with your usual, one with Windsor Canadian. Notice the superior smoothness and the flavor of Windsor.

That's because no other custom-distilled whisky shares these three extraordinary features:

1. Only Windsor Canadian is made from choicest northern prairie grains, bursting with fresh flavor.
2. Only Windsor Canadian is born of icy mountain glacial water drawn pure and clear from underground streams.

3. Only Windsor Canadian is aged in the incredibly dry air of Canada's Rockies. Where, nearly a mile high, it gentles to sippin'-smooth perfection.

Yet it costs no more than leading domestic whiskies, because we import Windsor Canadian, then bottle it here. Thus saving on duties and other charges. Compare the price and the smoothness of Windsor. Once you do, you'll never settle for less or pay more. That's tradition for you!

Equalization Board Told . . .

Assessment Average 28.1% Of Market Value

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska's real estate assessment average was 28.1 per cent of market value last year based on sales-assessment ratio study, the State Board of Equalization was informed Monday.

Wilber Houtchens, State Tax Commissioner's real property chief, said the "weighted" average was computed from 18,736 real estate transfers during 1968 considered as bona fide for the study's purposes.

Houtchens' testimony was received during the annual equalization hearing for Nebraska's six railroads — Union Pacific, Rock Island, Burlington, Missouri Pacific, Chicago and North Western, and Illinois Central.

Seek Equalization

The railroads claimed they are assessed at the 35% statutory level and should be equalized with all other property in the state.

The five-member state equalization board, headed by Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, took hearing testimony under advisement.

Houtchens said the 1968 study shows wide disparity in assessment levels between the 93 counties.

18,000 Transactions

Dr. James D. Hassler, University of Nebraska economist-statistician, said the some 18,000 transactions, representing three per cent of the state's total valuation, is "statistically sufficient to develop a reliable sales-assessment ratio study of the state."

He said the computed statewide average of 28.1% is "accurate within two-tenths of one per cent."

"If the railroads are being assessed at 35%," he said as an expert witness, "then railroad property should be dropped to 28.1% to be equalized with the statewide average."

Applicable

Hassler, replying to a question by the tax commissioner's attorney, agreed his testimony regarding the sales-assessment study would be applicable to any later equalization hearings for the 93 counties.

Last year, the state board left county-reported assessments unchanged, saying it had insufficient evidence for a statewide equalization effort.

The board has not yet indicated what equalization efforts, if any, may be undertaken this year after county assessments are submitted.

The tax commissioner's office now has four years of sales-assessment studies, based on county abstracts of sales since 1965, and ranging below the state's statutory 35% level of assessment.

Houtchens said the 1968 state study is still being refined with the assistance of county assessors, but a "final computation will be made in a week or ten day."

The state's assessment average is 28.2% without Douglas County, but 29.2% with that county, which had 30% of the sales used.

The study also indicated Douglas County had a 31.6% assessment ratio while Lancaster County had 24.6% last year.

Delinquency Records Bill Given Okay

A bill allowing the courts to set aside adjudications of juvenile delinquency of youths who successfully complete their probation won the approval of the Legislature's Judiciary Committee Monday.

The bill, LB1379, was drafted by the Governor's Crime Commission and was introduced at the request of Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann.

The measure requires the court to consider the minor's behavior and response to treatment and rehabilitation programs.

If the delinquency adjudication is set aside, all records on the case must be sealed, the bill provides.

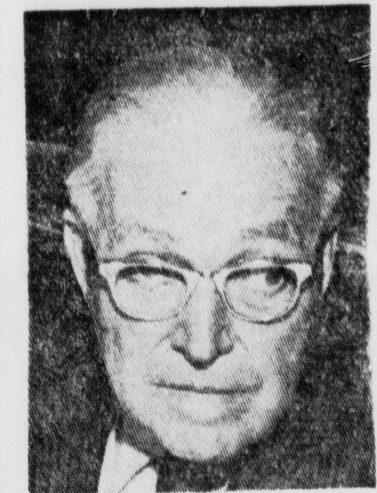

The committee killed on a 5-2 vote a resolution giving legislative backing to a proposed revision of Nebraska's criminal code.

Gun Regulation Measure Passed

One bill was passed on final reading in the Legislature Monday.

Sponsored by Sen. Leslie Stull of Ollantia, the measure, LB 746, adds revolvers or other short-barreled hand firearms to the weapons which youths under 18 may not possess. Present law refers only to "pistols."

The bill was approved 39-1, with Sen. William R. Skarda Jr. of Omaha casting the dissenting vote.

SEN. TERRY CARPENTER

Move Made To Require Unicam OK

Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter moved Monday to require specific legislative approval before any state employee could be paid more than $18,000 per year.

The Legislature adjourned before taking any action on the Carpenter proposal, which now will be considered Tuesday.

Carpenter moved to amend a bill once passed by the Legislature but then recalled which would have taken the ceiling off the state health director's salary.

The lawmakers decided they had done the wrong thing in passing the bill when the State Health Board hired an acting director of health the same day at a $30,000-per-year salary.

Carpenter's amendment would require specific legislative approval of every salary higher than $18,000 per year paid to a state employee.

State Sen. Fred Carstens of Beatrice submitted an amendment to Carpenter's amendment which would put the ceiling at $25,000 instead of $18,000.

Carpenter was the original sponsor of the bill to take the ceiling off the health director's salary.

Bill Giving Bonuses To War Veterans Killed

The Legislature's Budget Committee Monday killed the bill giving bonuses to Nebraska veterans who served at home or abroad during World War II, the Korean conflict or the Vietnam war.

"Personally, I don't think the government owes me anything," Lester Anderson of the Veterans of Foreign Wars testified. "The Department of Veterans Affairs can help if I need it."

"We're living in pretty good times," he added, "and I don't hear veterans complaining."

Under Sen. Eugene Mahoney's LB48, a veteran who served in the United States would be given $10 a month for each month served and those sent overseas would get $12.50 for each month spent overseas during the war periods.

Estimates on the cost ranged from $20 million to $70 million.

"My purpose in introducing this is to bring back a consciousness of the good life we have because some people took three, four or five years out of their lives (to serve)," Mahoney said.

"We're funding higher education at about $85 million or $100 million," he said, "but the people who made it possible are the ones who laid in the foxholes and the mud. They have as much right to the money as other programs."

The Omaha lawmaker conceded the bill would require a boost in the sales and-or income tax rates, but said he would be the "first to stand up" to raise the taxes if LB48 were favorably acted upon.

Anderson gave the only opposing testimony. No testimony, aside from that of Mahoney, in support of the measure was given during the public hearing.

Banking Unit Kills 10 Bills

The Legislature's Banking Committee took 12 Little Hoover Commission bills under consideration Monday, killed 10 of them and sent two to the floor.

The 10 bills killed would have transferred the fees collected by various state agencies into the state's general fund, rather than having the agencies run themselves with the funds.

The two bills sent to the floor would give the State Revenue Department the responsibility of depositing the revenues from soft drink and frozen dessert licenses in the general fund. That now is done by the state treasurer.

The committee also agreed, on a 7-0 vote, to introduce in the Legislature a resolution calling for an interim study of consumer credit laws.

The interim study would specifically take a look at the uniform consumers credit code drawn up by the commissioner uniform laws.

The commissioners came from all 50 states and have drawn up a model law dealing with consumer credit.

One of the major provisions of the proposed code is a move to open up the field of who may give loans and at the same time raise the interest rate limits. Proponents contend that under such a situation, the increased competition would result in the interest rates being kept low by competition.

A move to introduce a committee bill allowing banks in first class cities to have three detached facilities failed when it could muster only three votes.

Public Health Unit Seeks Counsel

The Legislature's Public Health Committee decided Monday to seek the counsel of the attorney general before passing judgment on a bill granting certain licensure and inspection exemptions for institutions operated by Christian Scientists.

The measure, LB1036, more specifically would provide the exemptions to clinics, hospitals and homes for the aged operated by the First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, Mass.

The state would exercise control in matters related to sanitation, fire, safety and building and construction codes, but would not exercise any medical supervision.

The measure, LB1036, sponsored by Sen. Fern Orme of Lincoln, drew no opposition at its public hearing.

A related Orme bill, LB1065, was killed on a 4-2

Bill Introduced Providing Land For NE Center

A bill was introduced in the Legislature Monday to provide land in Norfolk for the Northeast Opportunity Center.

A work-training facility for the handicapped and mentally retarded would be built on the land.

Under the bill, LB1389, sponsored by Sen. Thomas Kennedy of Newman Grove, the governor would be authorized to transfer 15 acres of state land in Norfolk to city officials.

Grammy Show In A Worn Groove

© New York Times Service

By THEODORE STRONGIN

New York — The suspense was long gone by the time the announcement came at the end of the Grammy awards show Monday night that Simon and Garfunkel's "Mrs. Robinson" had won the record of the year award, the top one voted by members of the recording industry.

The airwaves did palpitate for about 10 seconds while Henry Mancini opened the envelope with the winner's name. Until that moment, the Grammy was nothing but a variety show in which the winners, who had been announced in March, sang their award songs.

In the Grammy show format, even songs and artists as popular as "Wichita Lineman" (Glen Campbell), "Hey Jude" (The Beatles), "Harper Valley P.T.A." (The Jeannie C. Riley) and "Honey" (Bobby Goldsboro) — these were the finalists, with "Mrs. Robinson" — lose a good deal of their zing.

The treatment given "Mrs. Robinson" was an exception, which was poetic justice in view of the fact that it won. Surrealistic bits of a slapstick, silent movie of Simon and Garfunkel playing baseball were seen on the screen. Joe DiMaggio joined them.

The problem of presenting a lively awards show was not solved Monday night. Neither was the problem of what to do with music on television when music is the main point.

The presenters, who tried hard, each made a stab at lightening the atmosphere for a moment before putting on an earnest face to announce who would sing next. During the singing, the camera played just a bit with angles or collages.

The treatment given "Mrs. Robinson" was an exception, which was poetic justice in view of the fact that it won. Surrealistic bits of a slapstick, silent movie of Simon and Garfunkel playing baseball were seen on the screen. Joe DiMaggio joined them.

Bank Call Shows Loans By 10 Lincoln Banks Up

Total loans out by the 10 Lincoln banks as of last Wednesday were more than $36 million above the total reported a year ago for the federal bank call.

Ordered Monday to submit reports of their condition as of April 30, the 10 Lincoln banks reported total loans out of $226,467,408.

The loans total also was up $8,351,662, compared to the sum reported Dec. 31, 1968.

Total deposits were down $23,424,312, compared with the total three months ago. However, deposits showed a gain of $14,369,719 compared to the bank call report given April 18, 1968.

Assets also dropped in comparison with last month but were higher than the previous year's total.

By JOSEPH B. TREASTER

Saigon — Political analysts here noted Monday what they believe to be the first change in at least three years in the composition of the politburo of North Vietnam's Communist Party.

The shift moved Hoang Van Hoan, a former ambassador to China, from the 10th and lowest-ranking position in the politburo to sixth.

As a result, Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the defense minister of North Vietnam, appeared to have been demoted. Giap had been listed as sixth after Deputy Premier Pham Hung, who has been directing Communist military and political activity in South Vietnam since the summer of 1967.

Effect Not Clear

The analysts said it was not clear what effect the change with in the politburo might have on the policies of North Vietnam. Little is known of Hoan and, while he has been closely identified with the war, the analysts say that Giap has been out of the mainstream of power in Hanoi for some time.

"Gen. Giap is a figure who has been magnified in the West," one American diplomat said. He hasn't got much support in the party and his power within the army has been eroded."

In North Vietnam, as in other Communist countries, the politburo is the ruling body.

Communist countries typically do not announce changes in their politburos. But movement within the ruling group often becomes apparent to observers in the publication of the names of officials present at state functions. The officials are almost invariably listed in order of rank.

Listed At May Day Rally

The rise of Hoan to a position above Giap was detected in the list of officials present at the annual May Day rally in Hanoi.

As recent as March 3, when a delegation from the Viet Cong National Liberation Front visited Hanoi, Hoan had been listed as 10th. Documents available in Saigon show no change in the composition of the politburo since 1966.

Hoan, 64, joined Ho Chi Minh's Revolutionary Youth League in Canton, China, in 1926. Later he helped Ho, president of North Vietnam, establish the Indochinese Communist Party and the Viet Minh, predecessor of the Viet Cong.

Most analysts believe that Hoan shares the views of Truong Chinh, the third-ranking man in the politburo. The analysts say Chinh strives for ideologically pure communism and favors protracted warfare.

Madison Police Use Tear Gas On Students

Madison, Wis. (U) — Police fired clouds of tear gas down a main business street again Monday night to disperse knots of student hippies who trooped out of their Midflin Street colony and set up barricades for a third consecutive night.

The clouds of gas billowed into buildings, routing patrons from taverns and drugstores.

Some youths tossed debris at police from rooftops, and officers fired back with barrages of tear gas canisters.

The violence renewed shortly after Mayor William Dyke failed in an attempt at personal negotiation with student residents of the Midflin Street area.

The hippies and students wanted amnesty for more than 100 persons arrested since the violence broke out Saturday when police broke up a block party on Midflin Street.

Dyke said he could not grant amnesty. He also said he would not apologize for police action which had drawn criticism from a state legislator and two aldermen.

Dyke met with about 300 Midflin Street residents on a street corner. The meeting turned into a shouting match and Dyke left in a police car.

The young residents quickly threw together barricades of trash cans and building materials and set them afire. Police moved in, firing tear gas, and tore apart the barricades.

Shouting "To State Street, to State Street," the students headed for the business district. A student crowd diverted a bus, temporarily blocking State Street traffic before police dispersed them.

The meeting followed a rally in front of Dane County Jail. Police broke up the rally, and a sit-in by about 300 young persons on the state Capitol lawn.

Rare Brain Disease Blamed For Boy's Death, Not Spider

Cleveland (UPI) — A rare, unnamed brain disease and not the bite of a brown recluse spider was blamed Monday for the death of 5-year-old Todd Queseter.

The Amherst, Ohio, child, bitten by a spider April 27, died at Babies and Children's Hospital here Sunday, never coming out of a two-week-long coma.

"As time went by, the bite symptoms disappeared, but the brain dysfunction continued," Dr. Michael Wald, who was the primary physician treating Todd, said Monday.

Judge Postpones Hearing So Youth Can Get Haircut

Boulder, Colo. (U) — Dist. Judge William E. Buck postponed Monday until Wednesday an application for probation by Steven Packard, 19, in order to allow Packard to get a shorter haircut.

The Polk City, Iowa, boy is charged with possession of marijuana after his third arrest since November.

Packard appeared in court with his hair covering his ears. He told Judge Buck another inmate had cut some of it off after it reached his shoulders.

But Packard said he had no money to pay a barber visiting the jail to do a thorough job. Judge Buck criticized Packard for "your attitude of defiance and rejection of society."

The boy's mother was in court and told the judge she would finance a haircut for her son.

"This boy did not die a spider bite death," he added.

Dr. Wald explained that symptoms of the bite, such as blood deterioration, had begun to clear even before Todd was administered a special anti-venom serum flown to the U.S. from Brazil.

"He should have gone on and gotten better. Instead disfunction of the brain began to get worse," he added.

Dr. Wald studied the case histories of about 80 other children who showed symptoms similar to Todd's and that was what he based his "brain disfunction" theory on. He explained the disease is so rare that it has never been named.

Todd seemed to rally about a week ago, after receiving the serum, but then took a turn for the worse. At the end, his breathing was aided by a machine.

Battleship Comes Home—Perhaps From Last Tour

Long Beach, Calif. (UPI) — With bands playing and wives and children waving from the shore, the USS New Jersey came home again from the wars Monday — perhaps for the final time the world will see a battleship in action.

The salty skipper of the 56,000-ton dreadnought, Capt. J. Edward Snyder Jr., was quick to jump on the notion that the New Jersey was hanging up its 16-inch guns. Snyder said "only an idiot" would decide not to send the battleship back to Vietnam "if the level of hostilities remains the same."

Statewide Support Not Needed To Run For Office

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday ruled out a showing of statewide support as a requirement to run for political office.

A 7-2 decision held the constitutional right to vote is abridged when states insist that nominating petitions be signed in a specific number of counties.

Justice William O. Douglas, writing for the court, said such rules give an unfair advantage to voters in the less populous counties.

"The idea that one group can be granted greater voting strength than another is hostile to the one-man, one-vote basis of our representative government," he said.

The ruling specifically struck down an Illinois law that requires that nominating petitions carry at least 200 signatures from at least 50 of the state's 102 counties. The 1935 law had been approved by the court by a 6-3 vote in 1948.

Under the law, Douglas said, the electorate in 49 of the counties which contain 93.4% of the registered voters may not form a new political party and place its candidates on the ballot.

But, he said, 25,000 of the remaining 6.6% of registered voters in the 53 other counties may form a new political party.

The law requires 25,000 signatures, a condition the court did not disturb. Justices Potter Stewart and John Marshall Harlan dissented.

Decision May Affect Some Of Nebraska Requirements

A number of Nebraska constitutional and statutory requirements could fall victim to the U.S. Supreme Court's ruling Monday in an Illinois case.

The state constitution now requires that petitions for initiative and referendum votes be distributed so as to include signatures of at least 5% of the electorate in 38 counties.

A voter distribution formula is also contained in LB599, a newly enacted bill which changes procedures for the formation of new political parties in the state.

That bill requires signatures distributed in at least 19 counties.

Among the older statutes which could be affected is the state's presidential primary law, which includes petition procedures under which a presidential aspirant can get on the ballot if he is not placed there by the secretary of state.

That law provides for a distribution of signatures in congressional districts.

Trudeau Shifts Cabinet Around To Fill Vacancy

Ottawa (AP) — Supply Minister Don Jamieson, 48, was shifted Monday to the vacant transport portfolio and Robert Andras, 48, minister without portfolio, became the minister responsible for housing. They replace Paul Hellyer, who quit the two posts April 24, in a dispute over housing and federalism.

James Richardson, 47, another minister without portfolio, replaced Jamieson as supply minister. Foreign Minister Mitchell Sharp was chosen to succeed Hellyer as the man who acts as prime minister in absences of Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

The appointments were announced by Trudeau in the house of commons.

Apollo 10 Goes Over A Hurdle

Cape Kennedy (UPI) — The last major testing hurdle before the May 18 launch of the three Apollo 10 astronauts was passed Monday when their rocket wound up a long countdown rehearsal with a make-believe blastoff.

The 363-foot Saturn 5 rocket was fully fueled for the exercise. The test included virtually everything but the ignition of the booster's five massive engines.

For safety reasons, astronauts Thomas P. Stafford, John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan did not participate in the countdown. They planned to take part in an abbreviated dry run Tuesday.

Apollo 10 is scheduled to swing into orbit around the moon May 21 and circle it for 2½ days to pave the way for a lunar landing attempt by the Apollo 11 crew in July.

FBI Agent Declares Americans Must Say No To 'Anything Goes'

In order to turn the tide in an increasingly permissive and lawless society, Americans must start saying "no" to those who believe "anything goes," an FBI agent said here Monday.

Special Agent Paul C. Young, head of the Nebraska bureau, told those attending the 16th annual Law Enforcement Institute that campus and civil disorders pose the "most serious challenge in years."

"Even though police competency and training have never been better," he said, "the demands upon us have never been greater."

Say 'No'

"We must start saying 'no' to the sub-sisters who want everyone out of jail and also to the do-gooders who want to rehabilitate everyone," he said.

Young said he is particularly concerned with violence and rebellion on college and university campuses. He noted that a recent poll indicated that 8 out of 10 adults advocate the expulsion of student rebels or withdrawal of federal funds from them.

"We're getting sick and tired of the campus problem," said Young. "There's now a crackdown beginning on 'student power' throughout the country."

Most 'Ridiculous'

Expressing his thoughts on campus trouble, Young said "most of the demands are ridiculous and show the ignorance of the students."

Among the reasons given for campus violence have been a tavern closing, the presence of CIA recruiters, sympathy with striking campus workers, and overemphasis on athletics, he said.

"Almost any excuse is used to bring about violence," Young charged.

"I'm not against dissent or demonstrations so long as they don't lead to violence or damage and danger to persons or property," he added.

The special place is San Francisco. Old Crow makes it a little more special.

The clang of the Powell Street Cable Car. Majestic Golden Gate Bridge. And at the end of the day San Francisco's number one Bourbon—Crow. It doesn't come any better. The place or the Bourbon. Crow's classic bouquet and modern smoothness mix so deliciously with anything, it makes any time and any place a little more special.

Old Crow

Taste made it the world's most popular Bourbon.
